Gov. Low, of California, has appointed the 28th day of the present month as Thanksgiving day.

The bark Onward, the last of the Western Union Telegraph Company's fleet, has arrived at San Francisco from North-east Siberia. The passengers describe the country as a barren and inhospitable region.

It is stated that Commissioner Rollins's report will contain strong arguments in favor of taxing whisky stills according to their capacity. He has come to the conclusion that this is the only way to secure the Government against frauds on revenue. Congress, it is understood, will adopt this plan early in the coming session.

The Canada Parliament was formally opened yesterday. Hon. James Couchon was appointed Speaker of the Senate. The Governor General will deliver his address from the throne to-day.

The steamer China sailed from Boston for Liverpool yesterday.

Five criminals escaped from the Schenectady, New York, Jail Tuesday night, including Frank King, under indictments for murder.

Tuesday afternoon the prairies, about six miles west of Chicago, at a place called Austin, were set on fire by some children. The flames swept eastward with wonderful rapidity, and communicated with some three hundred tons of hay in stacks, all of which was destroyed. Much other property was also destroyed.

Worthington Hooker, M. D., Professor in Yale Medical College, died yesterday.

The steamship Java arrived at Boston from Liverpool yesterday.

Forney's Press and Chronicle of this morning each contains a long editorial in advocacy of General Grant for President. It is therein said that General Grant is in hearty accord with the Republican party, and in proof of the truth of this assertion the editor quotes from the speech of Hon. Elishu B. Washburne at Elizabeth, Ill., on the 5th of October, which Colonel Forney says may be accepted as alike authority with the declarations of General Rawlings, now Chief of Staff of the Army of the United States, made at Galena on the 21st of June last. As to Gen. Rawlings's speech, the editor says in italics, "it was carefully prepared in Washington, after full understanding with Gen. Grant, and was spoken that the country might know exactly the position occupied by Gen. Grant himself."

On Tuesday evening the New Orleans Board of Health declared the yellow fever no longer epidemic, and that the city is now free from all epidemic disease, that citizens and strangers can return at once without apprehension. The weather has been very cold for several days, with northerly winds. The total number of deaths from the epidemic to yesterday morning, were 3,006. The Board of Health pays a high and deserved compliment to the Howard Association, saying their success has been wonderful. There were six interments from yellow fever yesterday.

There were eleven deaths from yellow fever in Mobile yesterday.

In the Conservative Convention which met at Columbia, S. C., yesterday, there were eighty-six delegates, representing twenty districts. A committee on business was appointed, and the Convention adjourned until to-day.

BY MAILS.

The District Court in Iowa has decided that the school boards have no right to exclude children on account of their color from the public schools of the State.

The Galena Gazette of Saturday says that on Thursday afternoon George W. Jones sold to the Illinois Central Railroad five and three-quarters acres of land, situated above the elevator in Dunlieth, fronting an the river and running back on the bluff. The price paid was $5,000 cash and a life pass for himself and family. A year ago the land was offered for $275, but did not find a purchaser. The railroad company needed the land for the extension of their track.

Dr. Harris's weekly letter submitted to the New York Board of Health Monday, notes the fact that contagious and infectious diseases, as well as fatal diarrhœal disorders, are less prevalent than they have been for nineteen years past.

Collector Shook, of the Thirty-second New York District, has received a communication from Hon. E. A. Rollins, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in which he declares that spirits in bonded warehouses may not be proceeded against for forfeiture.

Near Jefferson, Texas, a planter who had hands contracted for one-third of the crop, found, on returning after an absence, that they were taking half the crop. He remonstrated, when they attacked him, and he fled, after killing four of them. On his application an armed force was sent, which they attacked, and six more of them were killed before they were subdued.

The Pine Bluff, Arkansas, Dispatch says that cotton culture will have to be abandoned. Cotton cannot be picked at less than a dollar a hundred, being equal to three and a half cents a pound for lint cotton, which, added to the tax, covers nearly half the market value of the product. It suggests wheat, corn and cereals, which, with the raising of stock, would make the farmer independent of negro labor, for which they are now ruining themselves.

Quite a destructive fire occurred Tuesday morning at Girard, a few miles south of Springfield, Ill., on the Chicago and St. Louis Railroad. Two large warehouses and one planing mill were entirely consumed, with 4,000 bushels of wheat and four cars belonging to the railroad company, two of which were laden with oats and two with coal. One warehouse belonged to Mr. Renike, and the other and the planing mill belonged to Mr. McKinney.

A very interesting and somewhat exciting habeas corpus case was argued in the Springfield, Illinois, Circuit Court Tuesday morning. The prisoner, Henry O'Connor, was charged with the robbery of the bank of Pettis & Ingalls, in Tremont, Tazewell county, of some hundred thousand dollars in bonds, but was brought before Judge Rice Tuesday on a writ which was quashed by the Judge, and the prisoner remanded to Tazewell county to be tried. It may be interesting to the curious to know that O'Connor was a somewhat distinguished Union scout during the rebellion, and is no other than the "Wild Bill" of Harper's Monthly.

Oak Ridge Cemetery, where President Lincoln's remains lie, presents a beautiful appearance now, the ground being terraced like a pyramid. His tomb is a plain vault with no show of any description, but the monument to be erected will be a credit to the country. Governor Oglesby has nearly the amount ready to begin the work.

A showman named Frank Prentiss, was murdered in Memphis on Tuesday evening.

The taxable property of Memphis is estimated at $45,000,000.

Noyes's agricultural implement shop, at Mattoon, Illinois, was burned on Monday night. Loss $28,000. Insurance light.

Notwithstanding the large number of unemployed convicts in the Ohio Penitentiary last year, the Warden's report shows that the management of that institution has netted thirteen thousand dollars to the State Treasury.

The New York Typographical Society were called together on Saturday evening to commemorate a very unusual event—the commencement of the fiftieth year of membership of Mr. Charles McDevitt, one of the Directors of the institution. Mr. Thurlow Weed, who joined the Society in 1816, made a neat little speech. He and Mr. McDevitt once worked together in New York, but previous to Saturday night had not met for fifty years.

The freight and engine house of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, at Kenosha, Wis., were destroyed by fire Tuesday night. Loss thirty to forty thousand dollars.

The Universalists of the Northwest and West will hold a Conference in Chicago, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday next. Since the meeting of the Conference, two years ago, it has raised one hundred thousand dollars to endow Loveland University, and eighty thousand dollars for local purposes, such as building churches, aiding schools, &c.

Mr. Sloanaker, late Collector of Internal Revenue for the First Pennsylvania District, is prominently spoken of as Solicitor of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The Elections.

The November election news has continued to absorb public attention to-day, to the exclusion of most everything else of general interest in and out of official circles. The presence of a large number of politicians in Washington, including a good many Senators and members, has added not a little to the interest in the discussion of the results, for their speculations and views have been freely given. Those who are favorable to the nomination of Grant for President, including his particular friend, Representative Washburne, declare that the result in New York and New Jersey, and the probable defeat of negro suffrage amendments in Minnesota and Kansas, renders the nomination of Grant for the Presidency a foregone conclusion. They are at the same time very indignant at the charge of Greeley in to-day's New York Tribune, that the Grant Republicans stayed away from the polls in New York so as to allow the Democrats to carry the State, and thus force the Republicans to unite on Grant for the Presidency in preference to Chase or any other candidate. On the other hand the friends of Mr. Chase declare that they are not alarmed, and that not a jot of the party platform, as enunciated in Congress, must be abated. The departure of the Chief Justice for New York this evening gives considerable zest to the canvassing of the politicians. The Democrats, of course, are greatly rejoiced at the result, but take particular pains to declare that it is in no wise an indorsement of the administration, but a battle won entirely without its assistance. They point to New York, where Johnson was not mentioned in the Democratic State Convention, as proof of this. The New York city Democrats, however, have been freely telegraphing the President the returns. Some of them are prefixed with a "God bless you."

The Public Debt.

From the statement of the public debt made to-day it appears that the debt bearing coin interest has increased $32,914,850 since the first of October. The debt bearing currency interest has decreased $34,306,040. The matured debt not presented for payment has increased $16,282. The debt bearing no interest has decreased $3,511,699 98. The total debt has decreased $4,886,607 98.

Jeff Davis's Trial.

District Attorney Chandler has notified the counsel of Jeff. Davis that he should be ready to proceed with the trial of Davis on the 25th instant, and all necessary arrangements are understood to have been made on the part of the Government for commencing the case on that day. Davis will be in Richmond on the 13th inst.

Private Contracts in the Navy.

The Ordnance Committee took evidence to-day, which continues to reflect severely on the Navy Department for private contracts made for fuse stocks at extravagant prices over those at which the Government can make them in its own yards. What makes the matter worse is that the contract was given to the brother of a former Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

The British Ambassadorship.

Information has been received here that Sir Edward Thornton has really been appointed by the British Government Minister to the United States. Sir Edward holds the matter under advisement, and the English Government is awaiting his acceptance or declination.

Solicitor of Revenue Bureau.

The President has not yet been able to select from the applicants a suitable person to fill the office of Solicitor of Internal Revenue Bureau. Sloanaker, of Philadelphia, has been named by some of the papers as the probable appointee, but there is authority for saying that he has not been considered by the Executive in connection with that position, and that he will not receive the appointment.

Armed Organizations in Washington.

The following is a copy of the order of the President for suppressing armed organizations in the District of Columbia. It is addressed to General Grant: "I am reliably advised that there are within the District of Columbia a number of armed organizations, formed without authority of law, and for purposes which have not been communicated to the Government. Being at the present time unnecessary for the preservation of order or the protection of the civil authority, they have excited serious apprehensions as to their real design. You will, therefore, take official steps for promptly disbanding and suppressing all such illegal organizations." This order is dated last Monday, the 4th inst., and applies to all armed military organizations, whether composed of negroes or white men. General Grant reports that beside the companies composed of colored men there are four companies of white citizens whose organizations are likewise unauthorized.

There is yet remaining fourteen hundred million acres, including the recently acquired Russian territory. There are now thirty-seven thousand miles of completed railroad in this country, while the number of miles in course of construction is seventeen thousand eight hundred and sixty.

ALI PASHA'S MISSION TO CRETE A FAILURE.

The latest accounts from Crete confirm the report of the total failure of the mission of Ali Pasha. The Cretans are preparing for a winter campaign against the Turks. They declare they will not lay down their arms until the island is annexed to Greece. Advices from Athens announce the nomination of Mr. Paxamiuta as President of the Assembly with a strong ministerial majority, which is considered as indicative of the stability of the administration.

COMMITTEE ON TREATMENT OF PRISONERS.

Several members of the Committee on the Treatment of Union Prisoners arrived this morning from New York. A sub-committee, with Representative Pile for chairman, will commence its sittings at the Capitol on Friday. A number of witnesses have been summoned, most of whom are expected to-morrow. Mr. Shanks, chairman of the general committee, will go west for the purpose of taking more testimony.

Bread Riots in England.

EXETER, ENGLAND, November 4, Midnight.—The bread riot, which commenced here, has extended to Axminster, situated twenty miles east of Exeter, where the premises of the corn dealers have been burned. Axminster contains the well known carpet factories, with buildings for the manufacture of woolen cloths, and has a very determined population of working men. The local militia have been called out and placed under arms in Exeter, and reinforcements of the regular troops have arrived in the city from the naval station at Plymouth. Several arrests have been made. Special constables have been sworn in both at Exeter and Axminster. The Mayor of Exeter has made a speech to the people, but the mob is still in force, and great excitement prevails in the streets even at this hour.

Papal Revolution Ended.

ROME, November 3, Evening.—During the past few days, General Garibaldi concentrated his forces around his former position at Monte Rotondo. Yesterday afternoon Signori Corte Crispi and Sevardent, supporters of his cause, and forming a deputation from the revolutionary society, begged of him to withdraw, saying that the Italian troops had crossed the frontier. Garibaldi refused, saying "he did not value his life in such a cause, and that a soldier ought not to count the number of his enemies." Signori Corte replied: "A General should." The deputation then left the camp.

This morning Garibaldi, with about three thousand of his command, having two guns, moved for Tivoli, to join Nicatero, one of his officers. In the meantime, the Papal Zouaves, who were advancing, had taken Tivoli at the point of the bayonet. Garibaldi's force did not know this, and were marching towards the same point. When they arrived at Milona they were surprised by seven battalions of the Papal army, supported by twelve guns, who attacked them in the front and on both flanks. The battle ground was among the hills, with a country road running on both sides. The fighting continued fiercely for over an hour. In the hottest moment of the engagement Garibaldi had to be dragged away from the battle. His troops suffered much loss, and retreated towards Monte Rotondo pursued by the soldiers of the Pope. Here the fight was renewed and continued for over an hour, when the Garibaldian retreat became an utter rout.

It is believed here that General Garibaldi had nine hundred men killed, one thousand prisoners taken, and a great many wounded. Menotti Garibaldi was wounded slightly in the leg. The loss of the Papal force was not so heavy. Arrived at the Italian frontier, the retreating Garibaldians gave up their arms, except weapons which were their own private property, to the Italian regular troops.

Garibaldi left this morning by a special railroad train for Florence. He made no parting address, and looked old, haggard and disappointed. The revolutionary insurrection movement is broken down all over the territory. There were no French engaged in the fight, with the exception of a few who went in as volunteers, though some of the Garibaldians, deceived by the resemblance of the uniform of the Papal soldiers to that worn in some of the French regiments of the line, say they were beaten by the French soldiers. The Italian troops, stationed on the frontier, behaved with great judgment in the emergency. Many of the wounded Garibaldians are here and some at Monte Rotondo.

TURIN, Afternoon, November 4.—Hundreds of wounded men are arriving here from the scene of the late engagements between the Garibaldians and the Papal troops. They are conveyed by special railroad trains. The Italian regulars act in a very kindly manner to all, assisting in carrying them from the station to where they are laid, weeping like women on beholding the sad spectacle. Father Gavazzi has charge of the hospital.

LIGGINOLE, November 4.—When General Garibaldi reached here this morning, the Italian officers on duty told him he must go to Spezzia. Garibaldi drew a revolver, saying he would not resist the officers, but that he would not go willingly. The Italian soldiers then stepped forward and lifted him into the cars. His sons would not go with him.

FLORENCE, November 5.—The English Minister and Embassy here have requested King Victor Emanuel to treat Garibaldi leniently. It is said there will be no collision between the French and Italian troops. Italy is quiet.

There are rumors afloat here to the effect that Garibaldi's mind is affected.

PARIS, November 5.—The La Presse, of this evening, says: The French Charge de Affairs at Florence, was ordered to present on Sunday, to the King's Government, an ultimatum that the Italian troops which had been marched into Papal territory should evacuate it before Thursday evening, November 7th.

FLORENCE, November 6.—The Gazzetta announces that the vote in the towns in the provinces in favor of union with Italy has been discontinued. The Italian troops have been recalled from the territory of Rome.

PARIS, November 6.—The Courier des Francaise announces that the French troops will retire from Rome to Avitia, pending negotiations between Italy, France and Rome in regard to existing difficulties. The Moniteur says Garibaldi, with his two sons, are prisoners at Varaguna.

FLORENCE, November 6.—On Sunday Garibaldi, with 3,500 men and two cannon, left his camp near Monte Rotondo, to advance to the attack of Tivoli, which was held by the Papal troops. He found the latter to the number of 6,000 men, posted in strong position, and supported by artillery. The Pontifical troops immediately fired with their batteries upon the approaching Garibaldians. A desperate conflict ensued, which lasted forty-five minutes, when Garibaldi retreated. The battle was renewed at Monte Rotondo. The insurgents fought with great obstination and kept up the conflict at this point for two hours and a-half, when, exhausted and overwhelmed, they gave way and were utterly routed. Four hundred and fifty insurgents were killed and nine hundred taken prisoners. No idea as to the number wounded can be ascertained. The total loss of the Papal troops was two hundred killed and wounded.

FLORENCE, November 6, P. M.—Garibaldi is now in prison at Vigevano, in Piedmont. He claims that he is a citizen of the United States, and demands his rights and privileges as such under the law of nations. The American Minister, Hon. George P. Marsh, has left Florence for Vigevano to visit the General.

PARIS, P. M., November 6.—One division of the French troops which entered Rome has already been withdrawn from the city and returned to Civita Vecchia, and the rest will soon follow. The whole expedition for the relief of Rome will then remain at Civita Vecchia, and there await the action of Italy.

The feeling on the Bourse to-day has been animated, but the cessation of warlike preparations and general disarming are necessary to restore confidence.

A call for a general conference of the European powers will soon be issued by the French Government.

FLORENCE, P. M., November 6.—General Cialdini is in command of the Italian forces acting as an army of observation on the Papal frontier. He has located his headquarters at Pisa.

FOREIGN ITEMS.

In Normandy one manufacturer alone has lost three millions by the fall in cotton.

The small arms manufactory at Placentia, Spain, is working night and day, executing an order given by the French Government for muskets of the new pattern.

The new Federal flag of Germany has been recognized by France, England, Sweden and Norway, Italy, Austria and Spain. From the other seafaring powers the like is shortly expected.

The death is announced of Mr. Henry Perigal, of the English Admiralty, in his hundredth year. He belonged to a celebrated family of watchmakers in Bond street, London—the firm, however, no longer existing.

The firm of Charles Mieg & Co., of Mulhausen, France, whose factory was lately burnt down, has signified its intention of paying the wages of the one hundred and seventy-five hands thrown out of employment by the disaster for three months.

For several weeks past not a case of cattle plague has been reported by the official inspectors in England, and it is announced that the weekly returns of the Veterinary Department of the Privy Council will now cease.

The Prussian Government has determined on trying a certain number of revolver cannons on Gattling's system. The mitrailleuse has been abandoned, from the difficulty of working it, and the heating of the barrels.

The exorbitant prices demanded by the Parisian holders of the copyright of Gounod's opera of "Romeo and Juliet," have induced the managers of the German opera houses to combine in declining to produce the work.

The bones of three persons; a woman, a young child and a boy of about six years of age, have been found in an old pit in Staffordshire, England. The legs of the boy had evidently been fastened together by a cord, and there is no doubt they were all murdered.

A balloon now at the Paris Exposition, which carries sixteen persons at a time, is the special attraction. The voyagers are allowed fifteen minutes to enjoy a view of Paris. The ascent is slow and delightful. Twenty francs is asked.

Alarming rumors are in circulation in Antwerp as to the critical state of the dykes in Holland. It is asserted that the weirage of the Eastern branch of the Scheldt, in altering the course of the river, has acted in a disastrous manner on the dykes. They are menaced on several points, and they must all be strengthened, an immense labor which will cost millions, and perhaps cannot be finished in time to prevent a disaster.

The emigration from France is yearly diminishing. The number, which was 17,787 in 1856, had decreased in 1862 to 6,800; in 1864, to 5,771, and in 1864 to 5,431. In the above figures is included the emigration to Algeria, which in 1864 consisted of 1,374 persons. In the same year 1,737 left for South America and 1,057 only for the United States. South America thus attracts a larger number of emigrants than the French colony.

Mr. Wynans, the eminent American contractor at St. Petersburg, has proposed to buy the Moscow Railway, so long in the market, and recently offered to the Russo-French Railway Company by the Government. He is willing so pay 25,600,000 roubles within a year, besides undertaking to amortise a former loan. As some of his London partners are likely to object to the transaction, Count Stryugonoff has left for England to smooth matters, if he can, on behalf of the Government.

Serious troubles are apprehended in Vienna if the Emperor Francis Joseph refuses his assent to a modification of the concordat. Popular demonstrations have taken place in front of the hotel of Cardinal Rauscher. Police agents have entered all the large workshops in the city and cautioned the masters not to allow public meetings of the workmen to take place on the premises. The municipality of Vienna has demanded of the Emperor the re-establishment of the National Guard, which shall maintain order in the city in place of the army.

There is at present an unusual feature in the corn trade of Ireland, viz: a very large export of oats to France. Sixteen vessels which have lately left Cork for French ports carried 25,077 barrels of oats, 13 vessels from Waterford, 16,456 barrels; and three from Dublin, 2,507 barrels: making a total of 44,040 barrels. There is at present shipping about as much more, and as the demand from France still continues, it is supposed that the quantity exported to that country will not be completed under 100,000 barrels. The oats are all black oats.

A fresh proof of the fatal effects of the Paris Exhibition on French trade is the failure of the great house of Decoqueville, whose foundries are to be sold by public auction on the 30th of November. After the conclusion of the Treaty of Commerce by which English Iron was admitted into France at a comparatively low duty, all the French ironmasters doubled and quadrupled their productions, hoping thus to reap profit on the immense increase of goods they sent to market. They went on producing, but with loss, and could only keep up their establishments by the help of considerable loans. Thus the House of Decoqueville borrowed to the amount of eight millions. The foundries of the Haute Marne are in the same condition as those of Aveyron. Of seventy-three foundries which were in full work at the commencement of 1866 in this department, sixty-seven are bankrupt. The prefect of Aveyron asked one of the principal ironmasters of his department whether he intended sending anything to the Exhibition, "Yes, Monsieur le Prefet," he replied, "I intend sending the keys of my establishment, which I closed yesterday."

Good Advice to Young Men and Batchelors.

Rev. Henry Morgan, of Boston, preached on Sunday night last, to a crowded house, in the Continental Theater, on the subject, "Young men and early marriage." Text: "Whoso findeth a wife findeth a good thing and obtaineth favor of the Lord."—Prov. xviii. 22. The speaker said nature, history and revelation declare "It is not good for man to be alone." Every man should have a helpmate, a bosom friend to co-operate with him in the battle of life. A wife is the balance wheel of a man's character, the regulator of his morals, the guardian angel of a husband's trust, confidence and prosperity. Man is but a single blade of shears, useless, without a wife bound to him by a matrimonial rivet. A wife is the magnetic needle pointing to the star of hope on the voyage of life. Her shadow is the wing of his protection; her genius the palladium of his morals; her smile the inspiration of his great achievements. Better live in an attic under the hallowed influence of a wife than to revel in a palace in what is called single-blessedness. "A virtuous woman is a crown to her husband." In all your seekings seek the favor of the fair. In all your gettings, get a wife; and never cease from getting until you get married. You say, "I cannot afford a wife." I say you cannot afford to be without one; that is, if character is to be taken into account. "But woman is extravagant in dress." Very well; there are enough who are not; don't marry such a one; don't marry a milliner shop. Marriage is supposd to be uncongenial with literary pursuits. Opinions have changed since the time of Michael Angelo and Sir Joshua Reynolds. The wives of Sir Water Scott, Fennimore Cooper, Jonathan Edwards, and Edmund Burke were instanced as helpmates.

A Boston Minister Interrupted by a Policeman.

There was quite a scene in Dr. Miner's church, Boston, on Sunday last. The Dr. had been eulogizing, in glowing, hearty terms, the course of Governor Andrew during the late rebellion, and expressing his regret that the rulers of the nation had not possessed more of his spirit and character. He had just pronounced the words—"But, I deeply regret, that I cannot stop here"—when a man rose in a remote part of the house, and began to talk in a rapid, excited, and incoherent manner, expressing his approval of Mr. Andrew's course on the liquor question, and condemning Dr. Miner for not pursuing the same course. Several members of the congregation rose immediately, apparently to put the intruder out of the house; but were restrained by the request of Dr. Miner that the man might be allowed to say whatever he had to say on the subject, When he had finished and gone out of the church, the Dr. proceeded to say that he would raise no question regarding Gov. Andrew's honesty, or his motives in pursuing the course he did on the temperance question; but with his public acts he felt it entirely proper to deal; and to these he most seriously objected; and finished his discourse without any personally unkind remarks on the departed ex-Governor. The man who made this disturbance is a Mr. Hill, formerly connected with the Boston police.

Pursuant to a published notice, the Pan Handle route of the Pittsburgh, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad, formerly known as the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad, was sold yesterday at auction at the Court House, in this city. The sale was made under the direction of Thomas McElrath, Trustee, under the authority and by virtue of a mortgage dated August 1st, 1856, which was declared to be a first lien by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. The sale included the railroad proper, together with the lands, depots, grounds and buildings, situate between and at the termini at this city and the boundary line of Virginia; also, all the tolls, issues, incomes and profits of the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad Company derivable from the use of or travel on their road or any part thereof; also, all the cars, engines, locomotives, tenders, horses, or other things used in the business or management of the railroad; and, also, all the estate, right, title, interest, claim and demand of the company in that portion of the road operated and run by them, through their lessees, in West Virginia, between the boundary line of Pennsylvania at the easterly end, and the Ohio river at the westerly end. The sale, however, did not include the railroad bridge that spans the Monongahela river at this city, or the iron bridge which crosses the Ohio river at Steubenville.

The road, as stated above, was exposed yesterday at public sale, by Capt. Harry B. Smithson, of the firm of Smithson, Palmer & Co., Auctioneers. At noon, the time announced for the sale, a very large number of the leading railroad men and capitalists of this city, Philadelphia, New York, Ohio and other places, had assembled in the rotunda of the Court House. The District Court room was obtained, and more comfortable quarters for those in attendance secured. Captain Smithson then stated that the sale was about to commence, and that any notices to be given in reference to it would then be in place.

Theodore Cuyler, Esq., of Philadelphia, one of the Solicitors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, then read the advertisement of the sale, giving the order of the Supreme Court under which it was authorized, the description of the road, equipments, etc., which would be included in the purchase, and the place and time of sale.

After Mr. Cuyler had read the advertisement, he stated that the purchase would be made subject to a contract made on the 27th of April, 1865, between the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad Company and the Chartiers Valley Railroad Company. He then read the following as the terms upon which the sale would be made:

"Twenty-five thousand dollars of the purchase money shall be paid in cash, and the balance within thirty days thereafter, Provided, however, that if the purchaser or purchasers are the holders of bonds and matured coupons, or either, secured by the aforesaid first mortgage, he and they may receipt to Thomas McElrath for the dividend of said balance of purchase money payable on the said bonds and matured coupons, or either, the sum thus receipted for to be considered as paid in cash on account of the said purchase money; the said bonds or coupons to be delivered at the time of such receipt to the said Thomas McElrath, and to be returned by him to the holders after the dividend thus receipted for shall have been indorsed thereon; the accrued interest on the said coupons from the date of their maturity to be added to the principal in estimating the dividend payable thereon. In case the terms of the sale are not complied with by the bidder to whom the property has been struck off, the next highest bidder at the sale, who shall have signed the condition thereof, shall have the option of taking the property at his bid, upon paying or accounting in manner aforesaid for the amount thereof, within ten days after the expiration of the aforesaid twenty days from the day of sale. When the purchase money shall have been paid or receipted for, and the sale confirmed by the Court, the said Thomas M'Elrath will execute and deliver to the purchaser or purchasers a good and sufficient deed or deeds conveying the premises unto him or them in fee simple."

John H. Hampton, Esq., one of the solicitors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, next read a paper giving notice to persons desirous of purchasing the road, that the Western Transportation Company owned rights of way, real estate, and has other claims on this road to the amount of $76,679 27, which must be liquidated by the purchaser, and that the same Company had also a further claim of fourteen hundred thousand dollars for money advanced and work done, for the payment of which the purchaser would be held.

Frederick Mussel, of Nobletown, then read a paper, setting forth that he had a claim amounting to eight thousand dollars against the road, for grading done on Section No. 14, 15, 16 and 18, from 1853 to 1868, and that the purchaser would be responsible for the payment of it.

There being no further notices presented, Captain Smithson stated that those who desired could pay such attention to the notices read as they thought proper, but the sale would be made under the conditions of the order of the Supreme Court. The bidding was then commenced, after a few words of solicitation by the auctioneer, twenty thousand dollars being the first bid. This was a start, and it being a comparatively small bid for the road, the auctioneer was kept busy calling the bids and watching the nodding of heads as an assent of one thousand more, until the bids reached in the neighborhood of a hundred thousand dollars. The competition now become quite spirited between about half a dozen parties, the principals among whom were the agents of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; W. R. Ellis, Esq., of New York, who represented himself and other capitalists of that city; General Geo. W. Cass, President of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway Company, and James Sewell, Esq., of this city. When the bids had reached one hundred thousand dollars, they came in by five thousand until the second hundred thousand had been reached. From this, bids came in by tens and twenty thousands until five hundred thousand was offered. They then came in by fifty and one hundred thousand dollars until one million dollars had been bid. After this bids came in by fives and ten thousand dollars, until about a million and a half had been reached, when the competition narrowed down between Mr. Ellis and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. When the offers had reached seventeen hundred thousand dollars, the auctioneer called for two millions, but the bidders, not desiring to invest any more than was necessary, each hoping to soon out-bid the other, the call was not complied with, and five and ten thousand were slowly offered until nineteen thousand had been reached, when a new bidder, or a "new Richmond," as the auctioneer termed him, offered nineteen hundred and thirty thousand dollars. Mr. Ellis bid ten thousand more, and was followed by a representative of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, who offered nineteen hundred and forty-five thousand dollars. A pause here occurred, and there being no further bids, the auctioneer called "once," "twice," but before he had uttered "thrice," Mr. Ellis nodded five thousand more. The monopoly, however, was not to be beaten, and ten thousand more was offered by them. No person responding to the call for bids, the sale was then "knocked down" to W. J. Howard, Esq., Solicitor for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, for the sum of one million nine hundred and sixty thousand dollars.

Mr. Howard then came forward and handed over the twenty-five thousand dollars in cash to Mr. McElrath, and signed the articles of sale. Mr. Ellis also came forward and signed his name to the articles as second highest bidder.

Immediately after the sale had been effected, an altercation occurred between Theodore Cuyler, Esq., one of the Solicitors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and Major A. M. Brown, who had appeared for Mr. Ellis, to see that everything was conducted properly in that gentleman's behalf. After Mr. Howard had signed the articles of sale and paid over the money required, Mr. Cuyler called out very loudly on Mr. Ellis, who was speaking with a gentleman at the time, to come forward and sign the paper as second bidder. Major Brown, as the representative of Mr. Ellis, stepped forward to examine the paper to see that it was all correct before signing, when Mr. Cuyler said in a rather loud and imperious tone to him, "What right have you here, sir?" Major Brown replied that he had as much right there as the gentleman who so abruptly addressed him, who was but a mere hireling of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; he had come there in the interests of Mr. Ellis, to see that everything was right before signing, and did not wish to be insulted by him (Mr. Cuyler) or any other man. A few more words passed between the gentlemen, when Mr. Ellis, upon being assured by Major Brown that all was correct, stepped forward and signed the articles. The parties then left the court room.

Mr. Ellis, it may not be out of place to state, did not come here with the express purpose or of purchasing the Pan Handle Road. He represented the interests of himself and a number of capitalists of New York city, who had a mortgage on the Pan Handle Road for about a million and three-quarters of dollars, and he came here with the purpose of running up the bids to that point in order to secure the mortgage, but if necessary to purchase the road. He accomplished his designs, having run up the bids to several hundred thousand dollars above the amount of the mortgage.

The Southeastern or Portugal Railway was put up for sale at Lisbon on the 7th of October, and the anticipated result took place of no offer being made. This formality having been gone through, it is believed that the Government will arrange satisfactorily with the English share and bondholders interested in that line. A Portugese loan will then probably be introduced in London.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

The Lesson of Tuesday.

Opinions of the New York Dailies.

NEW YORK, November 6.—The Tribune says: With three-fourths of the Republican journals published in our city either neutral in the contest or virtually telling their readers it would be better for the Republican cause to have the Republican ticket beaten this fall, we could hardly expect to hold our own in the State or city, but the defection in both is far greater than could with reason have been anticipated. To let the election go by default, it was held and argued by the trimmers and camp followers, would crush out what they are pleased to stigmatize as Radicalism, and render inevitable the nomination of Gen. Grant for President. Such considerations and calculations have kept 50,000 voters from the polls, and insured the overwhelming defeat of our State ticket.

The Times says: On the State ticket for Secretary of State, the vote of the State of New York yesterday went Democratic by an aggregate majority ranging, from present figures and estimates, from 18,000 to 23,000.

The Herald says: New York, with her large financial interest, declares against the party of debt and taxation, and rebukes the attempt to place the Southern States of the Union under the heel of African barbarism.

The World says: By yesterday's work the Empire State placed herself at the head of the noble army of Commonwealths whose mission has been here and now to stay the hands of the architects of ruin, and whose mission will be in the year and the contests that are to come to redeem and restore the Union and establish peace and representative self-government throughout all its borders.

The Post thinks this manifestation of the people was a mere passing chastisement intended to rebuke their faults and bring them back to moderation, common sense and policy.

The Commercial Advertiser accuses the managers of the Republican party of improvidently and thriftlessly scattering what cost so much care and toil to save, but with this defeat our winter of discontent ends, and under better auspices the approaching canvass will be made glorious next summer. Shaking itself free from incumbrances, the Republican party, reorganized, reformed and purified, will assert its devotion to the Union, unfurl the Grant banner, and fight out the Presidential campaign on this line.

MEXICO.

INSURRECTION AGAINST JUAREZ.

General Santa Anna Exiled.

The Remains of Maximilian.

HAVANA, November 5.—Late advices from Mexico state that it is momentarily expected a revolution would break out in that republic for the overthrow of Juarez.

HAVANA, November 5.—The steamer Eider has arrived here from Vera Cruz on the 2d.

The Mexican Government refuses to hold any intercourse with ministers and consuls of foreign governments until the Republic is recognized by such governments.

Santa Anna and wife came passengers, en route to St. Thomas. The court which tried him has been imprisoned for exiling him.

The remains of Maximilian had not been sent to Vera Cruz prior to the departure of the Eider. Mr. Hall, Maximilian's lawyer, is a passenger by the Eider, and goes to New Orleans.

ST. THOMAS.

Terrific Storm on the 29th---The Town in Ruins---Fearful Havoc Among the Shipping---Large Loss of Life.

HAVANNA, November 5.—An official dispatch from the Superintendent of the Royal Mail Steamship Company at St. Thomas to the British Consul in this city says all the property of the company has been destroyed by the terrible tornado of the 29th of October. The steamer Rhone was lost on Peter Island, and the Wye on Buck Island. The Conway went ashore on Tortala Island, and the Derwent at St. Thomas. The Solent and Tyne were dismantled. The town of St. Thomas is in complete ruins. Fifty vessels are ashore. The loss of life was very great, and the destruction of property immense. All the officers and engineers on the Rhone, and all others on board of her are lost. From the Wye forty persons were saved, including Captain Taylor and Mr. Hodgson. Of the passengers on board the regular steamer for Southampton, which had sailed with one hundred and fifty passengers, only twelve were saved. A French steamer was also damaged, and the list of other vessels that received injuries is very large.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, November 6, 1867.

DEATH OF HON. A. W. BRADFORD.

Hon. Alex. W. Bradford, ex Surrogate of this county, died last night of typhoid fever.

FIRE IN BROOKLYN.

A fire in Schermerhorn, Brooklyn, last night, destroyed the turning shop of Henry Weimer, the carriage manufactory of David Daily, and the sash factory of Prentice, White & Son. Loss $38,000, partly insured.

STEAMER ARRIVED.

The steamer Western Metropolis, from Bremen, arrived to-night.

NOTABLES.

Chief Justice S. P. Chase arrived in this city this evening, and is stopping at the Metropolitan Hotel. Also, Brigadier General Garfield has just arrived from Europe.

RIOT IN BROOKLYN.

Quite a riot occurred in the Fifth ward, Brooklyn, last night. A gang of rowdies attempted to tear down the sheds at the corner of Johnson and Gold streets. The officer who arrested one was stoned by the crowd, but not injured. The use of his revolver had no effect on the mob. The prisoner finally escaped. One of the rioters was subsequently arrested.

PHILADELPHIA.

Meeting of Presbyterian Union Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, November 6.—The National Presbyterian Union Convention commenced its session to-day. Rev. Mr. Blair, the oldest delegate present, opened the Convention with prayer. Geo. Stewart was elected permanent Chairman, and Dr. Archibald, of New York, Clerk. Over three hundred delegates are present, representing the Dutch Reformed, the Old and New School, and Reformed, United and Cumberland Presbyterian Churches. Revs. Dr. Hodge, H. B. Smith, Hatfield, Breckinridge, Beatty, Duffield, and many other distinguished divines are present. The church in which the Convention meets is crowded at the evening session, and great public interest is shown in its deliberations.

THE ELECTIONS.

Democratic Majority in New York 40,000.

The Result in Other States.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, October 6.—Returns complete and estimated from thirty-eight counties, give a Democratic gain over last year, when the Republicans carried the State by 13,687, of 38,671 votes. The Democratic majority in the State will doubtless exceed 40,000.

ALBANY, November 6.—The Argus claims over 40,000 majority for the State ticket, a majority of the Assembly, and at least fifteen of the thirty-two Senators.

NEW YORK, November 6.—The vote for Sheriff in this city is quite close. O'Brien, Tammany candidate, is elected by 880 votes over Connelly, Mozart nominee.

NEW YORK, November 6.—The Tribune concedes the State to the Democrats by not less than forty thousand.

MARYLAND.

BALTIMORE, November 6.—Returns come in slowly. The indications are that every official position in the State will be filled by Democrats. In Washington county the entire Democratic ticket is elected. It is also believed the entire Democratic ticket is elected in Frederick county. Kent county gives 1,282 Democratic majority, and Wyacomco, a new county, gives 1,000 Democratic majority.

MASSACHUSETTS.

BOSTON, November 6.—The vote of 249 towns gives Bullock 83,626; Adams 62,556. Of the State Senators elected so far as heard from, twenty-eight are licensemen, and only six for prohibition. Out of 195 Representatives, 155 are for license. John Quincy Adams was elected representative from Quincy.

MINNESOTA.

ST. PAUL, Minn., November 6.—Scattering returns indicate that Marshall, Republican, is elected Governor by about four thousand majority. Negro suffrage is probably defeated, though it is not yet hopeless. The entire Democratic ticket is elected in this county by from seven to eight hundred majority.

WISCONSIN.

MILWAUKEE, November 6.—The net Democratic gain in the State as far as heard from is 2,000. The Republicans claim that Fairchild is elected by about 4,000. The Democrats concede about 3,000. The Democrats gain six or eight members of Assembly, and three or four Senators.

MASSILLON, OHIO.

Body of a Boy Found Buried in a Gravel Pit--Suspicions of Foul Play.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

MASSILLON, O., November 6, 1867.

This morning as workmen were engaged in digging gravel from a pit near the Railroad Station, in this place, they came upon the body of a boy buried about two feet beneath the surface. He was identified as the son of a German residing in Massillon, who was missed from home some three weeks ago, and regarding whom nothing had since been heard. The position of the body was one very natural for repose, and it was at first supposed that he had fallen asleep and been covered up by caving in of a bank. Other indications, however, seem unfavorable to such a conclusion, and there are strong suspicions of evil connected with the affair. The county is without a Coroner, which has delayed the investigation of the case, though steps will be taken to discover the truth.

ALABAMA.

Proceedings of Reconstruction Convention.

MONTGOMERY, November 6.—The Reconstruction Convention to-day passed resolutions authorizing the raising of the proper standing committees, and to memorialize Congress to remove the political disabilities of all who have materially aided reconstruction. An ordinance was introduced and referred to restore all property sold by executors and administrators during the war for Confederate currency to the legal heirs of the estates without suit in court. The State Constitution will probably be modeled after the Vermont Constitution.

From Havana.

HAVANA, October 30th, via Key West, Nov. 5.—An armed expedition of the followers of Ex-President Baez landed at Monte Cristo from Haytien vessels, and occupied Guayabia. They were attacked, and beaten by General Talanco. The Dominicans are panting to avenge the treachery of Salnave, and could easily march 500 armed men on the capital of Hayti. The Dominican minister to Hayti has been recalled. President Cabral has gone to Cibos. He has negotiated a loan with London capitalists for ten million francs.

HAVANA, November 6.—Just before day break the steamship Hendrick Hudson went ashore on the Chibo beach, near Moro Castle, having been carried ashore by a heavy current and strong northeast squall. She is a total loss, probably. No lives lost.

STATE NEWS.

The Lancaster Express of Tuesday says: We yesterday announced the fact that a fatal endemic prevailed among the employees of one of the manufactories of this city. The establishment referred to was the Norris Locomotive Works. Two of the hands employed at these works died yesterday afternoon, making four deaths within a few days which have occurred among the persons employed there. While all agree that the causes are local, our physicians are not agreed as to the character of the disease.

The Oil City Petrolian calls for information, as follows: "The Chairman of the Third House of the Pennsylvania State Legislature, formerly a Representative of, and still resident in Butler county, was in Franklin a few days since, and drew the interest on a Venango county bond, which is held by him. We were not aware that the Commissioners of this county had been borrowing money, and understand that the county has had a surplus of cash held to its credit for several years past. Will our enterprising newspaper friends at Franklin inform the public the purpose for which this bond was given to the lobbyist in question, and the consideration rendered for the same? Was it for "boring" last winter? Come out square, gentlemen. The public shall know all about it, and if you don't tell them, we will."

Saturday morning last a fire occurred in Leamersville, Blair county, which destroyed a barn, stable and carriage house. Three horses, two mules, and a large amount of hay and grain were consumed. Loss about five thousand dollars; no insurance.

A fellow named Thomas Robinson, an inmate of the Beaver county prison, attempted to break out Wednesday evening last, but was detected by the Sheriff's son, and securely locked up to prevent any future attempts.

The Greensburg Herald of yesterday says. "In the southern part of this county there is a Democrat holding the position of Whisky Inspector under Andy Johnson's style of running the Government (that being to allow two-thirds of the whisky to escape payment of tax.) Well, in the performance of the arduous and burdensome (?) duties of his position this Democratic official called at one of our first class distilleries to "inspect" what was to be inspected. Two bottles filled with what was represented to him as "Beer" ready for the still, was handed him to pass his judgment on. They were both pronounced a first-class article by him. Now the distiller, having no confidence in the judgment or competency of this Democratic official, had filled one of the bottles with ordinary still slop, from the receptacle of the hog feed. Yet this Democrat, who is put there to protect the Government's interest, did not detect the cheat, but pronounced both alike—good beer."

Tuesday morning the boiler in the cotton and woolen mill of J. & S. Lee, at Conshohocken, near Norristown, exploded with a loud report, killing the engineer, Mr. McCarty, mortally injuring John Myers, the fireman, and injuring several others slightly. The mill is badly damaged. Fortunately the mill had not commenced operations, or the loss of life would have been more serious. The cause of the explosion is not known.

On September 26th, Martha, aged eleven years, daughter of Elias and Mary Fraker, residing near Burnt Cabins, at the lower end of Huntingdon county, died of diphtheria. On October 4th, only eight days after, Walker, aged five years, died of the same disease. On October 25th, twenty-one days after the son's death, Sarah, aged twenty-one years, another daughter of the same parents, died of the same disease; and on November 1st, last, seven days after, Daniel, aged eighteen years, fell a victim to the same disease.

BEN WADE.

His Relations with A. J.---Mrs. Lincoln---Thad. Stevens's Confiscation Bill

"Mack," of the Cincinnati Commercial, has been spending a day with Hon. Ben. Wade, and details his conversation with the distinguished Senator, in a two column and a half letter. The following are the concluding paragraphs:

PRESIDENT JOHNSON.

Mr. Wade related the following about A. J.: "Three or four days after the assassination, Johnson sent for me, and I went to see him. He met me very cordially, shaking me with both hands, and said he was exceedingly glad to see me, and that there wasn't a man in Washington whose advice he would as soon have as mine. I told him I was very glad and very proud of that. We sat down, and he said he wanted to hear my views on public questions and public policy. Well, said I, the first thing I've got to say to you is, be warned by the fate of all Vice Presidents who have been in your position. Look at Tyler and Fillmore, and pray to God every night to save you from their fate. Johnson seemed astonished to think that I had any apprehensions of that kind, but I told him he couldn't be too careful, for that he certainly would be tempted as they were. He said I need have no fears; that he meant to stand by the men and the party that elected him. I then went on to advise him what to do. I told him the first thing to do was to order the trial of a few of the leaders of the rebellion, before a military commission, and to hang them when found guilty. He said he would do that very thing, and would commence with Jeff. Davis. He told me to hunt up the law on the question, and I agreed to do it if he would name some one to help me. He named Ben. Butler. Butler and I called on him a day or two after to find out exactly what he wanted, and we had a long talk with him. He told us he meant to hang the leaders of the rebellion right away, as soon as they could be tried and convicted by a military commission. As we went away Ben. Butler said he was delighted with Johnson: that he seemed to be a regular trump. We looked up the law of the case, and in a few days I called on him again. I talked to him about this very question of reconstruction. He said he was very glad that it was a matter with which he had nothing to do; that it belonged to Congress exclusively, and he should let Congress take care of it. We parted, and soon after I went home, with the assurance from him that he would take no step not sanctioned by the leaders of the Republican party. I heard nothing from him until about two months later, when I met John Covode at a hotel in Cleveland, and learned that the President had been in close communion with Copperheads and rebels, and had said to Covode that he (Johnson,) could do without the Radicals better than the Radicals could do without him. About a month after I went on to Washington for the winter, and I called at the White House. I found the ante-room full of rebels and Copperheads, and I was soon convinced, from the style in which I was received, that Johnson had found friends and advisers outside of the Republican party. I knew then that he had started on the downward track, and made up his mind to betray the party, and the country, too, if he could. I tried my best to keep him in, but it was no go.

MRS. LINCOLN.

During our conversation, the subject of Mrs. Lincoln and her recent disgraceful conduct came up, and, remembering that Mr. Wade was one of a committee appointed by the two Houses to investigate the pecuniary condition in which Mr. Lincoln's family was left, and report a bill for their relief, I asked him if it was true, as stated by Mrs. Lincoln, that Mr. Lincoln left little or no property behind him. "No," said he, "it's a d—d lie. We looked into the matter very carefully. The Illinois men wanted us to give her one hundred thousand dollars, and we agreed to do so, if it appeared that she really needed it. We sent for the administrator of the estate, and he testified that Mr. Lincoln left seventy-five thousand dollars in government bonds, or something like that, besides some little productive property in Springfield, Illinois—in all, about one hundred thousand dollars. We thought, then, that twenty-five thousand dollars would be enough—the same as was paid to the widow of General Harrison. Mrs. Lincoln was very well off, and didn't need even what she got, She took a hundred boxes of something or other—I don't know what—away with her, and the Commissioner of Public Buildings swore there were fifteen other boxes that she wanted to carry off, and he had to interfere to prevent her. At any rate she cleaned out the White House. I didn't know but she was going to run a big hotel, with all she carried off."

CONFISCATION.

Mr Wade characterized Thad. Stevens's pending confiscation bill, as d—d foolery. The time for confiscation bills, he said, was during the war, when they could be of use in preventing men from going into the rebellion, but to think of passing such a measure now, was sheer folly and nonsense. If the negroes of the South wanted land, let them work for it.

Root and Shoe Business.

The Haverill Gazette of the 1st inst., says: At the present time there is a general stagnation in this branch of business, although the sales in this town for the month of September were about $550,000, which is a falling off of some $30,000 from the month of August. Since then there has been an unusual dullness, and workmen are idle about our streets, as the manufacturers do not see their way clear to manufacture many goods except orders. There is not so great a falling off in the sale of shoes for the last year as some persons imagine—but there has been a marked difference in the profits of the business. In an unsettled state of the market and the general apprehension that goods would be lower, buyers have been very cautious, and bought as closely as possible, and the manufacturers, being desirous to sell all their stock, have been led to sell with but a very slight profit, and in many cases none at all. It must be confessed the prospect of the shoe business for the next two or three months is not very flattering. The fall trade is closed and the spring trade will probably be backward, unless there is a change in other branches of business and the market for leather, &c., is more stable.

Pennsylvania takes the lead among the States, in the annual amount of iron mined; Michigan ranks next, New Jersey, New York, Missouri, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maryland, New Hampshire and Ohio, follow in this order. New Hampshire and New Jersey produce mainly the magnetic ores; New York, the magnetic and hematites; Connecticut, hematites; Pennsylvania and Ohio furnish the argillaceous ores of the coal measures, and Missouri and Michigan mine the compact red and black oxides.

The steamer Eagle, which arrived at Havana, yesterday, reports that she met the steamer Hendrick Hudson with her machinery disabled, and towed her one night, but in the morning her hawser parted and the Hudson drifted on the coast. Tugs were sent to her assistance. She will probably get off.

Prof. J. I. Reed, Superintendent of Common Schools of Beaver county, has resigned his office, and James Whitham, of Hanover township, has been appointed in his place.

The Daily Commercial

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1867.

THE COMMERCIAL is the largest daily paper in the State, and gives daily one-fourth more reading than any other paper in Pittsburgh. It is the only Pittsburgh paper that uses the telegraph liberally, gives full market reports, and all the news of the day.

IT may be an equivocal compliment to Republicanism in Massachusetts, but it appears that whisky has not defeated it there, although the liquor interest has polled the largest number of votes.

ACCORDING to General HOWARD'S report it appears that while the white folks have been killing one another, at war rates, the negroes have been smartly fulfilling the primal law of population and have increased and multiplied rapidly. This rather conflicts with the dreadful accounts of their decimation and dwindling that filled the Southern and the Democratic papers some time ago. It was represented that under the malign influences of freedom they were dying off at a fearful rate, that emancipation was killing them like the rot in a flock of sheep, and that for want of the conserving and comforting power of slavery they were likely to become speedily an extinct people, unfortunate victims of the Emancipation Proclamation.

THE sanitary measures, adopted and persistently maintained in New York city, although opposed by some almost to the point of forcible resistance, have undoubtedly been productive of great benefit to the health of the city. Hundreds of people, notwithstanding their proclivity to filthy houses and habits, have been kept from sickness and death by the considerate measures of the health commissioners, and the anti-nuisance regimen has been vindicated, not only through the summer but into the autumnal months. The rate of deaths has been lower in October than for the same period in many years, and lower than in almost any other city of the old world or the new. Infant life, although one fourth of the deaths are of children under one year of age, has suffered much less this year than usual. Cleanliness, pure water, fresh air, sunlight and the removal of nuisances have been the means of health. Sanitary regulations have achieved a triumph in New York this year. Let it stand to the credit of a city, in some other respects no model for imitation. Other cities may safely follow its example in this.

NATIONAL AND LOCAL.

The topics entering into the election contest this year are singularly mixed, contradictory and some of them highly exciting from their connection with appetites and passions that defy all political or party restraint. It was so in Ohio and Pennsylvania, and it is so in New York and Massachusetts, as well as in some other States. In States and sections where these local and special topics have not been introduced, the elections and their results have been after the old fashion, demonstrating the essential and unchanged loyalty of the people.

A New York paper, not connected with either party, makes this distinction between national issues and those of topical and special character very clearly, as to the politics and elections in that State. On the morning of election day, the Sun impartially and judiciously considering the interests of the city, said:

> "In respect to the State election, Democrats and Republicans will of course vote the tickets of their respective parties. In that contest the issue at stake is national and pertains to political principles as well as to men. Not so, however, with regard to the local offices. Political creeds and party platforms have no connection with the choice of men to fill the important positions at the head of our local government."

It does not follow that the voters in the city recognized the justness of these suggestions. We imagine they did not. A large majority of them are not of the kind to heed anything so sensible. But the vote of the yeomanry, the business men, the intelligence, the patriotism of the State, as contrasted with that of the city, shows that the national issues are not lost sight of among them, although they may be overslaughed and hidden by local questions and by appetites and passions in the city.

The immense vote in New York City that counts with the Democrats and that may turn the scale in the State, does not prove that the people of the Empire State have changed their minds on the great national questions, nor that they have handed over to the destructive policy of the Democrats the priceless interests of the Union, which, for so many years, they defended both at the polls and in the field of war. And what is true of New York is true of other States. The appeals to prejudice, and to appetites and passions, will fall harmless at the feet of intelligent voters, when, next year, the national elections shall solicit their consideration of national topics.

MEXICAN SUPERSTITION.

There can be no room to doubt, that MAXIMILIAN, although a foreign prince and a usurper, and an enemy to republican government, and, in his contest with the Liberals, a sanguinary leader, was the object of love and hope to the party that followed him. And that party would follow and love any other leader on whom they could rest as much hope as they did on MAXIMILIAN. The Mexican Church party, although defeated with him, does not forget him. We notice, therefore, the extraordinary veneration with which the votaries of that party cherish his memory, which, as to the mode of it, is far more creditable to him than it is to them. They were attached to him by the strongest ties known to them, those of a common religion. And their mourning springs from religious hopes blighted and ecclesiastical prospects frustrated, by the failure of his Imperial enterprise.

The intelligence derived from correspondents and other sources, is briefly given by the New York Times, which says:

> "Maximilian, though but recently executed in Mexico, is already worshipped by a great portion of the nation as a god. The people have implored the Archbishop of Mexico to procure his body for their veneration in the cathedral; the women in all the cities draped in mourning for his loss, and the wailing of the poor wretches in many of the towns, such as Queretaro, are heard night and day. They wear his photograph round their necks, kneel before his image and hang his picture on their walls. The old Mexican superstition [illegible] prophecy of three centuries ago, that a good ruler would be sent them from a far country, and that he would be slain by those whom he came to save, is applied to Maximilian, and the feelings and fears of the Austrian Prince, population have been specially [illegible] Indian part of the [illegible] In face of all these things, Juarez [illegible] brought upon. If President, it must be remembered has been elected [illegible] election is, and how it is conducted [illegible] a Mexican there is no doubt that Maximilian has [illegible] all events, sized even before the removal of his body [illegible] Mexican soil."

This devotion to MAXIMILIAN may appear surprising, when it is remembered that at one time he was menaced with excommunication for casting his eyes towards the vast wealth of the Church in Mexico, with a disposition to turn it or part of it to useful public purposes. But it will also be remembered that his last effort to overthrow the Republic was aided by funds supplied voluntarily by the Church party, which secured him to its interest as well as saved the main amount of the Church property. There is something affecting in the deep and, no doubt, sincere grief of these poor, ignorant people. But from the political standpoint, it will not enlist approval, since it implies in them a forgetfulness or a disregard of all considerations of patriotism and liberty, and indicates a preference for the usurping Empire to a free, constitutional Republic.

Senator Morton went to Terre Haute Monday afternoon to try the virtues of the artesian water upon his infirmities. His health, however, is not bad, and he feels very confident that he will be at Washington at the opening of Congress, prepared to attend to his duties through the session.

The Longsighted and the Far Sighted.

"Far off cattle have long horns." It is a universally admitted zoological truth. It would be absurd to look for oxen as largely endowed in the aforementioned regard about here as in latitude 40 degrees 32 minutes South and longitude 99 degrees 58 minutes East, where, in all sound analogy, we should expect to find the maximum development in this direction. This, for us of the Irion City, must be regarded as the point on the surface of our globe, which, being the most distant from us, must enjoy distinguished advantages in every essential particular.

It should be the earliest ambition of our young tourists to visit it, and if by any conceivable means a foundation can be secured for the needful structures, as it happens to be "off soundings," thither should we forward our contributions for the establishment of such institutions as are conducive to the prosperity in the large sense of such a city as ours.

Such seems to be the logic of much among us that bears upon the educational interests, especially, of our community. One would judge from much that we see that the route up the hill of science lay through the Union Depot, "via Philadelphia" or "via Allentown" being your whole range of choice.

There are some of our citizens who have begun to think that if there is any foundation for this general impression it ought not so to be. They have gone farther: by their unstinted generosity they have made it at least a debatable question whether it is so. Within a twelvemonth, for example, arrangements have been consummated, at a large cost, for utilizing our Observatory, and, in this connection, for enjoying the presence in the midst of us and the ready services of a thorough physicist. By virtue of a previous endowment, we have what the mere general and incidental encouragement given here to this class of scientists never would have secured, a man of thorough training in chemistry and its allied branches of study, and in command too of laboratory and cabinet appliances of a much higher order, to say the least, than some are aware who turn their backs upon home institutions and go far to seek those that are more widely trumpeted.

We see no reason why what is loosely called a polytechnic education may not be acquired on this side of the Alleghenies. That there are here advantages in teaching those principles which bear directly upon the mechanic arts that are the basis of our own local prosperity, no one will question. These mills, factories, refineries and the like are cabinets all in motion. If we have not yet among us the men who can turn these advantages to the account of a thorough practical education, it is high time to know it. They are either now here or they can be brought here. There are those who are willing to pay the cost. The main question is, and it is perhaps the only one suggestive of discouragement in the case—are our people prepared to appreciate and to appropriate advantages of this sort if put within their reach? Let us blush to be called Pittsburghers if they are not.

Workmen Swindled at Chicago.

On Monday evening last the Chicago Central Police Station was in a perfect state of siege. Stout, brawny men, came in by the dozen, until the rooms were fairly filled with the muscle and sinew of those who build our canals and railroads. An outrageous swindle had been perpetrated upon them by a sharper, and as a result the men were in anything but a humorous mood. A man, signing himself Robert Hale & Co., office No. 186 South Water street, had advertised for one hundred men to work on the levee above New Orleans. Something like fifty men made application during the day, and on the payment of $5 each, was provided with the following printed pass:

"Good for transportation from Chicago to Donaldsonville. Robert Hale & Co., contractors. Not transferable."

The men who invested in this costly pasteboard, fully to the number of fifty, were enjoined to come in a body to the office, at seven o'clock in the evening, and Mr. Hale would accompany them on their journey. It was further stipulated that in lieu of transportation an additional $5 should be deducted from their first month's pay. The men were promptly on hand at seven o'clock, but Mr. Hale failed to connect. In the course of an hour, the multitude began to smell something about the size of a mice, and hence their appearance in a body at the Central Station. Up to a late hour nothing had been heard from Mr. Hale, though his victims formed a large company.

The New York Labor Exchange.

A new Labor Exchange has been established at Castle Garden, at which workers, skilled and unskilled, male and female, are furnished to as great an extent as the demand or the supply may reach. The New York Times says: The great value of the institution to immigrants will presently be felt, and we have no doubt that if it continue to work effectively, and if the public, here and elsewhere, avail themselves of it to the extent the country requires, the number of immigrants will be doubled next year, and a much larger proportion of them than usual will be skilled operatives in all sorts of handicrafts. When immigrants have some assurance that their services will be sought for immediately on their arrival in this country, it will be an encouragement whose influence will be felt both abroad and here. We may be sure, moreover, that when a principle is applied to immigrants, by which capital and labor are so conveniently and beneficially brought together, it will soon be extended so as to embrace the other industrial portions of our population. We shall watch with interest the progress of this Labor Exchange.

A New Freight Car.

They are building at Minneapolis a new style of caboose car for light freight, to be run with through freight trains, which will, no doubt, become popular. They are to be furnished with "look-out" houses, about six feet square and six feet high, rising above the roof of the car, the upper part to be glazed, and provided with doors opening upon the roof. These are designed for the accommodation of the conductor and others who may have charge of the train, and the doors give them ready access to the brakes, if necessary, while the men are protected from the cold winds and storms when not engaged in managing the train. One other improvement should be added to these cars, and that is, a railing completely around the outer edge of the car, rising at least twelve or fifteen inches above the top of the car. By this improvement the lives of many conductors and brakesmen would be saved. It happens very frequently that they are thrown down by the icy condition of the roof, or from other causes, roll off the cars and are killed. The railing would secure them from such a disaster.

Our Purchase from Denmark.

The Copenhagen telegram which affirms the oft-asserted, oft-denied purchase by the United States of the Danish possessions in the West Indies, may be accepted as substantially true. The three chief islands, Santa Cruz, St. Thomas and St. Jan or St. John, with the series of lesser islets appurtenant thereto, will probably soon pass under the dominion of the Republic, and the event will mark a new era in our political history. The acquisition of Russian America was a step in a familiar direction, that of territorial growth on the mainland of America. This is not a continental, but an insular annexation, and a planting of our flag in the Lesser Antilles at the entrance of the Caribbean Sea. The European press, from London to St. Petersburg and from St. Petersburg to Rome, have already spoken of this negotiation as an excellent bargain for the United States. It is likely to be received with equal favor here at home.

Third Trial of a Damage Suit.

In the fall of 1862 Henry Stahlman, through the alleged carelessness of the driver and conductor having charge of a car on a Cincinnati Street Railroad, received an injury which caused his death. Suit was brought by the widow asking $5,000 damages. A jury rendered a verdict for $3,000. Owing to some imprudent remarks of a juryman, a motion to set aside the verdict was sustained, and a new trial granted. This resulted less favorably to the Railroad Company. The second jury rendered a verdict for $5,000. This was set aside on the ground that the damages were excessive. A third jury has been sworn, and a third trial is in progress before Judge Storer of the Superior Court.

WHY THEY DIDN'T VOTE.—The reason that, though the Southern whites refused to vote at the late elections, they yet had registered themselves previously as electors, was to give them power to vote against the Constitutions that may be formed by the Conventions that have now been called, as soon as these Constitutions shall be submitted to the popular decision. By the recent returns it may seem folly for them to think of doing this, as the black voters, with such white allies as they have, have been proved to constitute a majority of the registered voters. But, in some States at least, they talk of being able to effect such changes as will bring about different results at the next election.

LOOKING FOR "COMPENSATION."—The rebels are already beginning to discount the "great reaction." The ex-slavemasters of Virginia and the Carolinas, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and other Southern States are preparing lists of slaves held by them at the commencement of the rebellion, with a view of bringing in bills against the general Government, for the loss of those slaves, as soon as the "Democratic" party comes into power, which they expect will be next year. They calculate confidently on being paid out of the national treasury for them whenever their party gets into power.

DICKENS'S LECTURES.—The Chairman of the Lecture Committee of the Toledo Library Association wrote to the agent of Mr. Dickens to obtain information in regard to his readings, and has obtained the following information in regard to Mr. Dickens's plans: He proposes to give one hundred readings in this country, commencing about December 1. Terms, $2,000 per evening, he to pay all expenses. This information comes direct from Mr. Dolby, Mr. Dickens's agent. There can be no mistake about the kind of "American notes" Dickens is after on his present visit to this country.

JEFF. DAVIS.

Official Account of His Capture in Woman's Apparel, by Maj. Gen. Wilson.

January 17, 1867, Major General J. H. Wilson, as a matter of historical interest, and in justice to his late command, the Cavalry Corps of the Military Division of the Mississippi, submitted to Major General Rawlins a report of the pursuit and capture of Jeff. Davis, and requested that the same might be made a part of the official records of the War Department. The report puts to rest all doubt of Davis being clothed in woman's apparel. The General says:

During the firing of the skirmish referred to the Adjutant of the Fourth Michigan, Lieutenant J. G. Dickinson, after having looked to the security of the rebel camp and sent forward a number of the men who had straggled, was about to go to the front himself, when his attention was called by one of the men "to three persons dressed in female attire," who had apparently just left one of the large tents near by, and were moving towards the thick woods. He started at once towards them and called out "Halt," but, not hearing him or not caring to obey, they continued to move off. Just then they were confronted by three men under direction of Corporal Munger, coming from the opposite direction. The Corporal recognized one of the persons as Davis, advanced carbine and demanded his surrender. The three persons halted, and by the actions of the two who afterwards turned out to be women, all doubt as to the identity of the third person was removed. The individuals thus arrested were found to be Miss Howell, Mrs. Davis and Jefferson Davis. As they walked back to the tent from which they had tried to escape Lieutenant Dickinson observed that Davis's high top boots were not covered by his disguise, which fact probably led to his recognition by Corporal Munger.

As the friends of Davis have strenuously denied that he was disguised as a woman it may not be improper to specify the exact articles of apparel which he had upon him when first seen by Lieutenant Dickinson and Corporal Munger. The former states that he was one of the three persons "dressed in woman's attire," and had "a black mantle wrapped about his head, through the top of which could be seen the locks of his hair." Captain G. W. Lawton, Fourth Michigan cavalry, who publishes an account of the capture in the Atlantic Monthly for September, 1865, states explicitly, upon the testimony of the officers present, that Davis, in addition to the full suit of Confederate gray, had on a lady's waterproof (cloak) gathered at the waist, with a shawl drawn over the head, and carrying a tin pail."

Colonel Pritchard says in his official report that he received from Mrs. Davis, on board the steamer Clyde, off Fortress Monroe, "a waterproof cloak or robe," which was worn by Davis as a disguise, and which was identified by the men who saw it on him at the time of the capture. He secured the balance of the disguise the next day. It consisted of a shawl, which was identified in a similar manner by both Mrs. Davis and the men. From these circumstances there seems to be no doubt whatever that Davis sought to avoid capture by assuming the dress of a woman, or that the ladies of the party endeavored to pass him off upon his captors as one of themselves.

In addition to Davis and his family Colonel Pritchard's detachment captured at the same time John H. Reagan, rebel Postmaster General, Colonel B. N. Harrison, private secretary, Colonels Lubbock and Johnson, aids-de-camp to Davis, four inferior officers and thirteen private soldiers, besides Miss Howell, two waiting maids, and several colored servants.

WESTERN NEWS.

The Good Templars of Indiana are to build a temple at Richmond.

Last week coal was forty cents a bushel in Jeffersonville, Indiana.

Thirty-two divorce cases are on the docket of Floyd County, Indiana, Circuit Court.

The great bridge at New Albany is to have a carriage way and foot path, as well as a rail road track.

Fort Wayne is to have a course of lectures under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association.

On one hundred and fifty acres of ground, Capt. Myers, of Switzerland county, Indiana, has raised this season 1,800 bushels of corn, 800 bushels of potatoes, 115 tons of hay, and 300 barrels of apples.

At the burning of the Richmond Water Cure, Indiana, the thirsty citizens drank up several gallons of whisky in which snakes, beetles and other reptiles had been preserved. These creatures, it seems, cannot be cured in water.

The amount of claims on account of Mogan's raid already allowed in Indiana, amounts to over $400,000—among the items being $16,000 to the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad Company, and $13,000 to the Jeffersonville, Madison and Indianapolis Company. In Harrison county there were five hundred claims, and in Ripley county over three hundred claims. The only claims yet to be examined are those of Dearborn county. The Commission will meet at Lawrenceburg to determine upon these.

The Henderson, Ky., News says: "A heavy iron firm in Liverpool, England, offer to furnish a sufficiency of railroad iron to finish our end of the road to the corn-fields beyond Madisonville for one-third cash, one-third in one year, and the remaining third in two years; the iron to be delivered in New Orleans in sixty days from date of contract. If the Henderson city bonds can be negotiated this offer can be accepted, and the road will soon be in working order."

The Rock Island Union says: "Immense trains freighted with cattle, hogs and sheep, are daily passing over the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad, mostly from points in Iowa. Some shipments are also being made from this point. Large quantities of lumber are coming westward over the same road. We noticed an entire train last evening freighted with lumber. The rapid increase of population and the consequent want of buildings, fences, &c., created a lively demand for lumber."

Apples, says the Berlin Courant, are as plenty in Wisconsin as potatoes, and almost as cheap. It is reported that Wisconsin fruit commands fifty to seventy-five cents more a barrel than that from Michigan.

The hop product of the United States this year is estimated at 20,000,000 pounds, of which 7,000,000 pounds are credited to Wisconsin, and 4,000,000 of that to Sauk county. This year's crop in Sauk county was raised on 3,548 acres, took 20,000 pickers to gather it, and brought into the county $2,000,000.

In the proceedings of the Unitarian Convention, held at Chicago, we find the following: "Rev. R. L. Collyer, of the Church of the Messiah, said that Dr. Burtis, of Davenport, Iowa, was building a splendid opera house there, which he intended to have dedicated with a liberal sermon.

The Dubuque Herald says of the railroad troubles in that city: "The shipping business of Dubuque is blockaded, all owing to the war between shippers and the Illinois Central. No wheat was sent down the river or over the river on Friday, neither was there any cars furnished shippers of lumber or grain on this side. This state of affairs cannot last much longer. Something must give way or Dubuque is ruined as a shipping point."

The Keokuk Constitution exemplifies, at the same time what the spirit of Democratic politics is and what Christian charity is not, by the following elegant utterance: "Rev. Miss A. J. Chapin has been called to the pastorate of the Universalist Church, at Mount Pleasant, Iowa. There is a propriety in an infidel woman preaching to a congregation of fanatical radicals, for they are all chips of the same block, and will go down to hell together as sure as shooting."

The total product of the Lake Superior mine for September will not vary much from fourteen thousand tons. At the Cleveland mine, new and important discoveries of rich beds of ore are being constantly made, satisfying all concerned of inexhaustible wealth which lies hidden beneath the surface. A very promising bed of soft hematite ore has been opened at the New England mines, of which about seventy tons a day are now going forward to Detroit.

The State Auditor of Missouri has published a letter regarding the State debt, in which he says: "We have been at work this summer in bringing some order and clearness into our accounts of the State debt, the results of which are given in the article inclosed, which at this present time will prove acceptable to the public. In 1865, when this administration came in, our bonded and floating State debt was $39,496,665. All of the floating debt is paid or amply provided for, and the whole bonded debt of the State will amount, on January 1, 1868, to $27,440,000, or nearly that amount, which, before February 1, 1868, will be reduced by at least $358,000, and probably by quite $500,000. Such results, attained immediately after the close of a devastating war, may well entitle the financial administration of our party to some credit."

A great contest of wood sawing came off in Lafayette, Ind., Friday. A citizen of that place offered to give a certain amount of wood to the poor if the members of the Young Men's Christain Association would saw it gratis. To make the thing interesting as well as charitable, another lot was given for the Hoosier Base Boll nine to saw. The example was contagious and other lots were given and other "nines" volunteered. In all thirty-six cords were given and four nines, namely the Young Men's Christian Association nine, the Base Ball nine, the Fenian nine and the Independent nine entered the lists, each nine having nine cords to saw. The saws, saw-horses, &c., were all given, and afterwards sold at auction. The participators and their friends marched to the place in procession, with a band. The sawing began at 25 minutes after 10—all hands rested 30 minutes and lunched at 12 o'clock. The Independents completed their last stick in three hours and ten minutes. The Fenians got through next. Then the base ball players, and last the unmuscular Christians. The contest was the occasion of much fun and good humor, and the poor of that city gain a substantial benefit.

Meteoric Displays.

The astronomers having been disappointed in their previous predictions of the appearance of the meteoric showers, are now beginning to withdraw their announcements of a display of meteors this month. The 13th of November, is the thirty-fourth anniversary of the remarkable display of meteors in the United States, on the morning of November 13th, 1833, and as it is now considered nearly settled that the period of revolution of these planets with such very eccentric orbits, is 33¼ years, it is said not to be improbable that there will be an unusually numerous appearance of these meteors in this country on the 13th.

PERSONAL.

—The Court of Russia has returned to St. Petersburg for the winter. It is the first time the Czar and his family have been so long abroad, away from the seat of Government.

—Senator Henry Wilson has just finished the manuscript of his new book, "The History of the Reconstruction Measures," and it will be published soon.

—A woman named Jane McGuinness, aged one hundred years, died at her residence, Boston, on Thursday last, of old age. She was born in Ireland, and was never married.

—Bismarck is six feet in height, with broad shoulders and chest, round, florid face, large blue eyes, and a loud voice. He is described as the image of a rollicking prize fighter.

—Anna E. Dickinson has a brother—the Rev. J.—who is now a student at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Ct., and supplies the Methodist pulpit in Westville on the Sabbath.

—Mr. Theodore Martin, the husband of Miss Helen Faucit, the celebrated English actress, was recently a guest of Queen Victoria's at Balmoral. Mr. Martin edited the recently published life of the Prince Consort.

—The Senators and members are gradually arriving in Washington to hunt up boarding places and houses, and everybody seems to expect a protracted sitting of the session of the historic Congress.

—The young Duke de Chevreuse, grandson of the Duke de Luynes, one of the richest land owners in France, heir to the fortune of his father, and on the point of marriage with Mlle. Yolande de la Rochefoucauld, daughter of the Duke de Bisaccia, quitted his chateau, family, and betrothed, to go to Rome. An officer in the Pontifical Zouaves, he had resigned in the month of July, and it is as a simple soldier that he now returns to take his post of honor in the midst of his former comrades.

—The secret diplomatic mission to Europe, which Secretary Seward is said to have entrusted to Rev. Mr. Hawley, the Presbyterian Minister at Auburn, and which has occasioned so many conjectures among newspapers, has, as might have been expected, only the very slightest foundation of fact. The reverend gentleman only goes out as a bearer of despatches—a neat way of paying his expenses to the old world.

—The eccentric Baron de Ponnat, who, at the Peace Congress of Geneva, denounced Christianity as the cause of all modern wars, has addressed a letter to several of the Paris newspapers on the occasion of his daughter's taking the veil. "The Baron de Ponnat," runs the letter, "is grieved to have to inform you of the cruel loss that he has just sustained in the person of his youngest daughter, M'lle. Josephine de Ponnat, whom superstition has buried alive in the Convent of Conflans (Seine), for the greater glory of God and the Ladies of the Holy Heart."

—The breaking off of the proposed marriage of the young King of Bavaria with the Princess Sophia is attributable to the natural flightiness of the young monarch, who is said to have once declared that the three wishes of his life were—first, not to reign; second, not to reside at Munich; and third, not to marry. The event has produced great consternation in the Ultramontane Party at Munich, which fears that the King will now revert to the ancient traditions of his house, and marry a Protestant Princess.

—The news of the improvement in the health of the unfortunate Empress Charlotte is contradicted by authentic intelligence. It states that it is true the patient has some rare intervals of lucidity, but the slightest incident is sufficient to throw her back into her former deplorable state; and that, in short, the new treatment followed in Belgium has been unattended with the least success. A family council has been formed to watch over the interests of the Empress Charlotte, and the Prince de Ligne and Count de Theux have been called upon to take part in it, conjointly with M. Tesch.

—The New York Express says that the wardrobe of Mrs. Lincoln still remains at the rooms of Mr. Brady, and the probabilities are that the high prices placed upon the dresses by the owner will keep them there for an indefinite period. The earlier determination to hold a public auction on Friday last, in case the wardrobe and jewelry were not previously disposed of at private sale, has been reconsidered, and the effort to realize privately upon them will be continued. Meanwhile Mrs. Lincoln has returned to Chicago, and is now boarding at a private residence on West Washington street.

—The Cincinnati Commercial says that Gen. Cary is disappointing his temperance friends up in the country by not making his appearance at their conventions, and making speeches for the cause, as was his custom previous to his becoming the Copperhead candidate for Congress. He has been quite silent on the prohibitory liquor question since his election.

—Among the arrivals at the Tremont House, Chicago, on Monday, were Lieutenant General W. T. Sherman, Major General Harney, Major General Terry, Major General Augur, Major General Sanborne, Colonel C. G. Bartlett, of the United States army; Colonel Taylor, S. F. Tappan, Ashton S. F. White, Commissioners to treat with the Indians; United States Senator E. G. Ross, Kansas.

—A negro man died lately at Yazoo, Miss., supposed to be 107 years old. He was reputed to have been the servant of Dr. Corbin, the Attorney General of Virginia in the days of George III., prior to the Revolution.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

BY JOHN W. GEARY, GOVERNOR.

From the creation of the world, in all ages and times, it has been customary to set apart certain days for special religious observances. This has not always been influenced by the light of Christian knowledge, nor by any proper conception of the character of that Great Being "who ruleth the earth in righteousness," and "who daily loadeth with his benefits;" but by an innate sense of the existence of an over-ruling Power, by which the world and all it contains are governed and controlled. Aided by the dictates of cultivated reason, and the teachings of Divine revelation, we, however, are taught to recognize in that Supreme Ruler a Heavenly Father, to whom we are indebted for existence and all the blessings we enjoy, and to whom we owe constant and fervent thanksgiving and praise. It is he who "visiteth the earth and watereth it;" who "setteth the furrows and blesseth the springings thereof;" who "crowneth the year with his goodness, and whose paths drop fatness;" who "clotheth the pastures with flocks, and covereth the valleys with corn; who "maketh the out-goings of the morning and of the evening to rejoice;" who "is our refuge and strength;" who "maketh wars to cease," and "saveth us from our enemies;" whose "throne is forever and ever;" and who "blesseth the nations whose God is the Lord."

On all sides we have increased assurances of the "loving-kindness" of an All-wise Parent of Good, who has conducted our nation through a long and terrible war, and permitted our people to repose once more in safety, "without any to molest them or to make them afraid." The monstrous sentiment of disunion is no longer tolerated. The Flag, the Union, and the Constitution are esteemed as the safeguard of the rights and liberties of the people, and are revered and defended as the ark of their political safety.

A kind Providence has not grown weary of supplying our continuous wants. A bounteous harvest has rewarded the labors of the husbandman. Flocks and herds are scattered in countless numbers over our valleys and hills. Commerce is uninterrupted, and vessels laden with the products of nature and of art, speed unmolested over the trackless deeps. Neither pestilence, famine, political or social evils, financial embarrassments or commercial distress have been permitted to stay the progress and happiness of the people of this great Commonwealth; but peace, health, education, morality, religion, social improvement and refinement, with their attendant blessings, have filled the cup of comfort and enjoyment to overflowing.

Recognizing our responsibility to Him who controls the destinies of nations as well as of individuals and "from whom cometh down every good and perfect gift," and to whom we are deeply indebted for all these and the richer blessings of our common Christianity, let us unitedly give our most devout gratitude and hearty thanksgiving.

I, therefore, do hereby recommend that THURSDAY, the 28th day of November next, be set apart as a day of praise and thanksgiving, that all secular and worldly business be suspended, and the people assemble in their various places of worship to acknowledge their gratitude, and offer up prayers for a continuance of Divine favor.

GIVEN under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, at Harrisburg, this thirty-first day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven, and of the Commonwealth the ninety-second. JNO. W. GEARY.

By the Governor:

F. JORDAN, Secretary of State. td

OHIO NEWS.

Ironton people subscribed $52,000, at a meeting the other night, for the purpose of completing the Iron Railroad.

George W. Jones, of Zanesville, died last week from the effect of a blow on the temple, inflicted with a glass tumbler, October 19th, by John Jarvis.

There is to be a plastering match in Cincinnati for the championship, for from $100 to $1,000 a side—2,000 yards—between four plasterers, Cadwallader and Hemp on one side, and Goodin and Finnerty on the other.

The vote on extending the corporate limits of Canton, at the recent election, stood for annexation 989, against it 8.

The Piqua Journal says that more buildings have been put up, and more improvements made to old ones, in that city the past season, than for a number of years past.

Seventy-five houses have been been built in Urbana during the season. The Citizen says that when a new business building is erected "a dozen applicants are ready for it," and that the rents of dwellings are advanced to an enormous rate.

The Madison County Union says that Alexander McMarry, the oldest resident of Madison county, died at Springfield, to which place he had gone on a visit a few days ago, at the advanced age of ninety-eight years. He emigrated from Pennsylvania to Madison county in 1825. His first vote for President was cast for Thomas Jefferson.

The following postoffices in this State have lately been made money order offices: Alliance, Bluffton, Canfield, Clyde, Dresden, Fredericktown, Greenville, Kinsman's, McArthur, Marysville, Miamisville, Middletown, Morgan, Nevada, New Lexington, New Lisbon, New London, New Richmond, St. Clairsville, St. Marys, Shelby, Uhrichsville, Wadsworth, Wapakoneta, Waynesville, Wellington, Wellsville, West Farmington, West Liberty, West Salem, Yellow Springs.

The Canton Repository says: "We learn that the attorneys of Mr. Haines, the Democratic candidate for State Senator in this district, have served a notice of contest upon General Potts, Senator elect. The ground upon which the contest is to be based, as we are informed, is the alleged fact that the judges of election at certain polls where a majority of Republican votes were cast, vacated the polls during the dinner hour, taking the ballot box with them."

Women whose husbands have been "alienated," will be interested in the following recipe for winning back their love, which was given by a fortune teller to a wife in Dayton: Procure a black hen, cut her head off at a single blow with an axe, cut her open with a pair of scissors, and pluck out her heart. The heart should be wrapped in hair and slightly roasted in the ashes; then clean it wrap it in a piece of blue silk, and place it under her husband's pillow, so that he would sleep on it for three nights.

ONWARD, RIGHT ONWARD,

Into the valley of death,
Rode the six hundred,

But larger, by hundreds multiplied into millions, than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction in Tennyson's poem, is the great cavalcade of unhappy beings who are riding into misery, worse than death, hugging that fearful disease FEVER AND AGUE, when by the use of

MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS,

They might, each one, be forever relieved from it, and their physical organization become thoroughly improved by means of a purified blood and healthy condition of the stomach. The legitimate result of using

Mishler's Celebrated Herb Bitters,

Is to ward off Fever and Ague when it is likely to make its appearance, and to effect a radical cure in cases where it has already gained a foothold. It makes no difference how long the victim of this disease has suffered from it, or how violent the disease itself may be, we are prepared to furnish indubitable evidence that

Mishler's Celebrated Herb Bitters

Will cure it. It is inevitable from the very nature of the medicine; hence there is no longer any need of suffering. Send to your nearest Druggist for these invaluable Bitters, they all sell them.

PEN PICTURE OF GARIBALDI.

His Life and Battles, and His March on Rome in 1867.

George Alfred Townsend has published a pamphlet, entitled "The Life and Battles of Garibaldi, and his March on Rome, in 1867," the style of which may be gathered from the following:

"GARIBALDI COTTAGE, STATEN ISLAND,
October, 1867.

"Last summer I lived a little while beside the Narrows on this most beautiful island. For neighbors I had a colony of Italians, chatty, cheerful, hopeful people, who spoke scarcely intelligible English, and these inhabited small cottages a quarter of a mile back from the bay, where they made a self-amusing, anomalous community, so merry and innocent that I often wished I could be their countryman to be admitted into their circle. They drank wines imported by themselves from Italy—good Capri Sec, Marsala and Monte Pulciano—lived upon bare floors as they had done at home, and were surrounded by parrots, dogs and chickens.

"I sometimes went over to see them, and felt keenly the contrast of their light-heartedness with the anxious, money-getting, money-talking nature of our Americans. They were all Republicans, and patriots to both their native and adopted lands, and it was among them that Garibaldi lived parts of years 1850-'51-'52.

"He was then a banished man, freshly smarting with wounds of body and heart, his wife buried in a mountain grave, his children orphans across the ocean, and his own sixteen years of hard battle for freedom in both worlds hardly accounted his honor. But he never mourned nor despaired, and all his record on Staten Island was of truthfulness, pleasantness and toil. Few knew him, but his face was remembered still for its most benevolent eloquence and beauty, and the love that I had learned to bear him from some knowledge of his life made my daily evening walk a visit to the Italian colony.

"At the head of this colony was Signor Meucci, an elderly man of dignity and genius. He was an inventor and manufacturer, and his house was the home of the exile, to whom his factory gave employment. The house was a low frame dwelling in a green yard, with wooded hills reaching up behind it. On the porch, of twilights, when the Italians sat smoking, I used to steal past, humoring the conceit that I heard the soft voice of the great soldier of freedom. They had letters from him often, and some of his earlier portraits, and he always wrote to M. Meucci as 'My dear old Boss.'

"Next to the house, across a fence, was Meyer's Brewery, called now, by every body, 'The Garibaldi Brewery,' and in it the guest worked even with the long hospitality of his friend, molding candles and drawing wicks, but he was never regarded as less than an honored companion, and at noon he knocked off work and took to reading. The history and poetry of his ancient land were his relief, for he was a man of large, bold intelligence, and when the old love of the sea came back to him, now and then, he shipped upon a voyage, and lived close to the face of nature as next beloved to freedom's.

"I seemed to be gladder and better than this great man had once lived near my cottage. It is a disheartening neighborhood that has never been entered by great good presence. He made a feature of all the woods and lanes. The ferryboats to town were haunted by him. I wondered if I should not some time shake his hand.

"At last this good time came. It came at Brescia, when I saw him in his camp—happy, childlike veteran, whose broad shoulder had tumbled thrones—and I walked into the magnetism of his eye with the bold word on my tongue of 'neighbor!' but the love and dignity he looked made me quite silent. I only shook his hand and felt that I had passed the great moment of my life."

As to Garibaldi's wife:

"In the city of Laguna he looked up at a window one day by chance, and met the gaze of a young girl. It made him alter the rule of his life, which was to know no wife but Italy and no children but her sons. He was already beloved by this brave girl; and when he told her that his mission would not permit the quietness of a fireside life, she answered that she could ride and fight at his side. Therefore they were married, and woman won in Anita a place in the fame of Garibaldi."

His first son's birth is thus told:

"It is sad to follow the brave devotion of this lion-hearted wife. She aimed the guns of his vessel, stood cutlass in hand to repel boarders, charged with the cavalry, deployed with skirmishers, rode down the enemy with lance and lasso, and, after the combat, cooked and comforted, leading so a two-fold life. Menotti Garibaldi, her first son, was born at San Simon, Uruguay, on the 10th of September, 1840. His mother fought in an action four days before his birth; and twelve days afterward the party of soldiers with whom she quartered were surprised and nearly all slain, so that she climbed upon a horse with her baby, and galloped into the forest. At this time Garibaldi had gone twenty miles to find food and clothing for the mother and child, swimming two rivers on the way. For three months this future young invader of the Roman territory was carried on horseback by his father, suspended in a handkerchief from Garibaldi's neck, and kept warm with his breath. Wild as this career may have been for a woman, it was like that of the Maids of Orleans and Saragossa. Freedom's necessities and love's nerved without unsexing her. All her life long she was held in almost superstitious regard."

One of Garibaldi's fights with the French for Rome in 1849, is thus sketched:

"The villa stood upon terraces; the lawn before it, full of busts, statues, summer houses, hedges and clumps of trees, was inclosed by strong walls that converged to one massive gate, on which cannon and muskets concentrated a murderous and incessant fire. With his white poncho and plumed hat rendering him a target, Garibaldi led the Italian Legion and the Bersaglieri at a charge through the gateway and up the broad walk. From every marble effigy a death's head aimed; the orange trees dropped shells; every belvedere was full of French tirailleurs; the great villa seemed a volcano, belching fire. His cloak and hat riddled with balls, he leaped the terraces, waving his sword, and cried, "Surrender!" From the great stairway, and the luxurious saloons the reply came like an earthquake. He was alone with a handful, and the flower of Italy lay dead in the garden walks. Beaten back to the gate the trumpet sounded again; again the lawn and the terraces were filled with dead. The third charge saw him on the stairs, immortal but alone. Now the Lombard legion advanced, with Henry Dandolo at its head, to give one hour of that blind old Doge, his ancestor. To the sound of eight trumpets these two divisions climbed the stairs; every officer was slain at the cannon's mouth. Thrice again the assault was made, against fresh French reserves, each time a march into a vault. Now Garibaldi mounted at the head of his lancers, infantry behind him; the dying in the gardens saw in the broad daylight his waving plume darken upon the path, and cheered him as he galloped. He spurred to the marble stairs, and ascending them, wheeled on the landing place like an equestrian statue in apotheosis, and flourished his sabre. A fussillade rang out, and horse and rider reeled and disappeared. He was up again, and on foot in time to lead the infantry, bayonet in hand; they cleared the long saloons, swept the halls, drove the French over the balustrades and out of the windows; all bloody and gasping while they stopped for breath, a French reserve flowed in like a deluge; there were no men left to continue the assault. A thousand men had been slain outright, one hundred of them officers, and of these were the noble names of Masina, Dandolo, Daverio and Scoriani."

After the last sortie in defense of Rome, the following scare occurred:

"At dawn the awful combat slackened. Mazzini, standing up in the assembly, related the story of the night. They sent for Garibaldi.

"When he appeared at the door of the chamber all the deputies arose and applauded. He was covered with blood. His clothes were pierced with balls and bayonet thrusts; his sabre was so bent that it would not enter its sheath half way.

"'To the Tribune! to the Tribune!' they cried.

"He mounted it, mild and beautiful as a saint condemned.

"'Defense is henceforth a waste of Italian life,' he said, 'unless we are resolved to make Rome another Saragossa. I will withdraw with my brave men to the mountains that Rome may not be sacked, leaving the glories and monuments of art intact till a better day shall come.'

"In tears they proclaimed their decree:

"The Roman Republic: In the name of God and the people! The Roman Continent Assembly discontinues a defense which has become impossible. It has its post.

"On the 2d of July, after sixty-five days of heroic defense, Garibaldi assembled his troops in the square before St. Peter's. He advanced into the center of them and announced his plan of warfare in the Marshes and Provinces.

"'In recompense for the love you may show your country,' he said, 'I offer you hunger, thirst, cold, war and death; who accepts these terms let him follow me!'

"Emerging upon the coast of Piedmont, he found that the King, Carlo Alberto, had abdicated on the field of battle to save some shadow of a crown for his son, and his son, King Victor Emanuel, banished Garibaldi from his realm. He sailed to Algiers, then to New York, cheerfully waiting for freedom's good time.

"In New York he was treated with distinction, but the press, timid of giving offense to the Catholic clergy—a class of men that to my experience read the newspapers less and influence them more than any other in America—gave him little encomium. Boarding awhile with Signor Pastacaldi in Irving Place, he moved to his friend Meucci's, on Staten Island. Meucci was clever and poor, Garibaldi, the successor of Rienzi, molded candles three years for his bread, setting democracy its cardinal example. Meucci had a hard struggle to get along, and Garibaldi sailed as Captain of a ship at last to San Francisco. Some years he kept at sea, nourishing his dreams of freedom yet, and hearing that amnesty had been proclaimed in Sardinia, he departed for Nice in time to see his mother die; and for her virtues and his valor all the city followed her body by torch-light to the grave.

"The advance of Garibaldi on Rome in this year of 1867 is animated by the intensest of all the feelings of his life. He is an old man; looking from his rocky island he sees all his race made prosperous and united by his individual devotion, except the Romans. So long as Rome is constrained, Italy is incomplete, and working from that excepted spot, ambitious churchmen, as in the past, will foment intestine discord in Italy, or allure the rapacious stranger. It is not sought to banish the Christian church, but to dethrone a political churchman, who does not love Italy, intelligence nor freedom; whose personal will is despotism; and who, entrenched upon the national soil, excommunicates the King and the patriot together. If the Papacy is founded in the needs of any vast body of mankind, its own usefulness will preserve it; but it has no right to forbid competition and slander civilization—a military fortress where Christ is dishonored to be the chief of a detective police. It claims the right to hold, free of taxation, vast ecclesiastical establishments over all Italy, which are but strongholds of mutiny, and no nation dare respect itself that admits its monstrous pretensions. I have found, as an American journalist, that sympathy with Italy is made a political offense in America. When I have sometimes said a cheerful word for the greatest man of my generation, the subject of this sketch, I have been advised that it displeases some mysterious interest which I refuse to acknowledge. Any ecclesiastic in the Pope's position, would be an enemy to freedom, Methodist, Baptist, Quaker or Catholic. Let this man, Pius, enter the lists with other faiths; all men want the best faith, whatever it be, and all men will have freedom. I am persuaded that American Catholics value their cheerfully accorded toleration in a land of liberty too well to believe their faith endangered anywhere by the triumph of patriotism and freedom. Grand and manly is it to see this republican soldier, making all titles mean by his quiet refusal of them, dwelling at Caprera in the free air of the seas, under the tinted mountains, asking no higher fame than to die under the walls of Rome."

CITY MATTERS.

TO VISIT EUROPE.—Mr. Clarence Johns, the well-known artist, in company with Mr. Stanley Rinehart, will depart for Europe shortly, in the steamer Iowa.

PERSONAL.—Col. John H. Stewart, late Military State Agent in Washington, has arrived in this city. It is stated that he intends to re-establish himself in business here.

FIREMEN'S ASSOCIATION.—A meeting of the Pittsburgh Firemen's Association will be held at their hall in City Building, on Monday evening next at half past seven o'clock.

GRAND TROT AT PERRYSVILLE.—A trotting match for a purse of $200, will take place between George Evans' grey gelding "Treble John" and "Old Lady Fulton," mile heats, best three in five, to harness, at Perrysville Park, this afternoon, at three o'clock.

SEIZURE OF BUTTER.—The Market Constable yesterday morning seized thirty-nine rolls of butter in the Diamond Market for light weight. It was handed over to Mr. George Fortune, to be appropriated to the use of the inmates of the Poor House.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—A. Leggate, the popular auctioneer, of Allegheny, yesterday sold the lot fifty by one hundred and twenty feet, located on South Canal street, in the Fourth ward, of that city, (old Public School building), for the sum of ten thousand and fifty dollars. Augustus Miller, Esq., was the purchaser.

ARREST OF ANOTHER CRAZY MAN.—An insane man was arrested on Penn street Tuesday evening, for breaking windows. He was going up street with a hatchet in his hand smashing all the glass doors and windows within his reach. He succeeded in breaking the large panes in two windows and a couple of doors. Yesterday morning he was committed to jail for five days.

TAKEN TO THE PENITENTIARY.—Sheriff Cluley, accompanied by some Deputies, yesterday conveyed in an omnibus to the Western Penitentiary, in Allegheny City, five persons, who were sentenced to that institution. The names of the prisoners are Thos. Breese, convicted of rape, three years; John Rosewell, larceny, two years; Charles Douglass, Wm. Mininger and Fanny Gray, larceny, one year each.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—A man named John Curtis was seriously injured at Murndorf's planing mill, in East Birmingham, on Tuesday. He was endeavoring to fix some of the machinery that was stopped and out of order, and accidentally set it in motion. He had his hand, at the time, in between the cogs of a pair of wheels, which, revolving, caught on two of his fingers before he had time to draw them out, and severed them completely from his hand.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.—JUDGE M'CANDLESS.

TRIAL OF A CIGAR DEALER.

The case of the United States vs. 32,400 cigars seized for alleged violation of the Revenue law, was taken up. The libel of information was then read by the District Attorney. It alleged that the owner of the cigars, John Payne, from the 27th of July, 1866, to the 27th of July, 1867, carried on the business of a dealer in cigars, made and manufactured fifty thousand cigars and offered false and fraudulent stamps, made in imitation of stamps furnished by the United states, and that the cigars so stamped were offered for sale in the city of Scranton, Luzerne county, and refused to pay the special tax to the collector of the Twelfth Collection District. The cigars were seized on the 26th of July, 1867, by Mr. Mansfield, Deputy Collector of the Twelfth Collection District.

The answer to the libel was read by defendant's counsel, Hon John P. Penny. The answer denied that defendant, during the time mentioned in the libel, had violated the revenue law as alleged in the libel, and that the cigars were purchased of Edward Strall, in the county of Lebanon, before the 3d of June, 1864, and shipped to Scranton where they were seized.

Frank W. Watson, sworn—Reside in Scranton, Luzerne county; am Assistant Assessor of the Twelfth District; am acquainted with John Payne, and about the 26th of July last was informed there was a cigar dealer peddling in the neighborhood; notified the cigar inspector; we went out and found Mr. David Beltz, a peddlar; Mr. Mansfield asked him if he had a license, and he said he had but did not have it with him; he handed us a card as manufacturer; we seized all he had, about four thousand boxes as security for tax; the stamps were genuine; after we had seized the first box we were informed there were more, and found a quantity in a neighboring house with stamps we supposed to be fraudulently affixed. Payne, it was stated, carried on a large manufactory in Scranton, I supposed the stamps were bogus because they were two years old, and I supposed they should have been returned before.

Witness was shown a couple of boxes of cigars, and identified them as the ones seized. There was no date on the stamp.

Cross-examination—The man who told me about Mr. Beltz selling cigars, was named David Creter, and he made me give a pledge not to tell his name.

T. B. Mansfield, Revenue Inspector in the Twelfth District, was sworn and gave testimony relative to the seizure, saying he was with Mr. Watson at the time of the seizure; one or two boxes were examined and appeared to be genuine.

O. B. Wright, Andrew Kesler, Peter Cuter, C. D. Arnsthall and John Wilson were sworn. From the testimony given by the witnesses, some of whom were cigar inspectors, it appeared that the stamps on the boxes were of the old kind. A box of the cigars were opened and found to be of a common kind, worth about twelve dollars per thousand.

Mr. Arnsthall, a cigar inspector in this district, testified that from a comparison of the stamps on the boxes with those he received from Washington, he thought those on the boxes must be counterfeit.

Mr. Wilson testified that there was a great difference in the stamps received from Washington, some being very much blurred, and the engraving of others was very good. He did not feel competent to say whether the stamps on the boxes were counterfeit or not.

This closed the testimony for the prosecution.

Mr. Penny, counsel for the defense, said it would be shown that the boxes were regularly stamped, and if there was any fraud it must have come through the Revenue Department.

John K. Payne, son of the owner of the cigars, was sworn and testified that the boxes were packed by him, and inspected and stamped by a Mr. Miller, at Lebanon, and were afterwards shipped to Saratoga.

John Miller was sworn and testified that he had inspected a large quantity of cigars at Lebanon in 1864, and was satisfied the tax had been paid, on account of inquiries made of the Revenue Collector and Mr. Stroll. About 63,700 cigars were inspected by him.

The witness was shown one of the cigar boxes and said it was one of the same kind he had inspected. Mr. Strew always paid his taxes regularly.

Cross-examined—Never, that I know of, saw any counterfeit stamps, and could not say whether there are any counterfeits or not. The stamps I used were received from the Assessor of the District, who received them directly from Washington. The manufacturer has to give bond for the payment of his tax before the cigars are sold.

The jury found a verdict in favor of the respondent and against the United States.

The case of the United States vs. nine casks of beer owned by Peter Anen, was continued to the special term to be held in January.

United States vs. John Payne, for violation of the revenue laws. Verdict of not guilty.

David Boetz plead guilty to a charge of violating the Internal Revenue law, in carrying on the business of a peddler in the fourth class, and was sentenced to pay a fine of ten dollars and costs of prosecution.

The case of the United States vs. Daniel Mehan, tavern keeper on Irwin street, this city, for violating the revenue law, was taken up. It was alleged that the defendant had concealed in his cellar two barrels of whisky on which the special tax of two dollars per gallon had not been paid. On trial at the adjournment of court.

National Bank of Lawrence county vs. C. W. Ricketson's administrators. Action on three notes, bearing date of June 1, 1866, June 11, 1866, and July 23d, 1866, for $5,000 each, with interest and cost of protests. The jury found for plaintiffs in the sum of $15,917 01.

Samuel Cochran and Wm. Campbell vs. James M. Byers. This was an action to recover the value of two hundred sheep, seized by the defendant, who was then Sheriff of Washington county. The sheep were seized as the property of Gen. Calahan, of Cannonsburg, upon a judgment issued at the suit of A. J. M'Quiston, and were sold under that judgment. The plaintiffs allege that the sheep belonged to them and not Gen. Calahan, and bring this suit to recover the value thereof, claimed to be $2,000. Messrs. Acheson and Gibson for plaintiff and Marshall for defendant. On trial.

WORKINGMEN'S PARTY.

City Convention—Nominations Postponed Until November 27th.

According to announcement the delegates elected on Saturday last to the Workingmen's Convention, to nominate candidates for the various city offices, assembled last evening in the Hall of the Firemen's Association.

The Convention was called to order by Mr. Tatem, upon whose motion Mr. George Baeber, Editor of the Workingmen's Advocate, was called to the chair, and Mr. H. B. Hagey, reporter of the Workingmen's Advocate, was appointed Secretary.

The Chairman stated the object of the Convention when a delegate offered the following which was adopted:

WHEREAS, The delegates here assembled in Convention deem it inexpedient to make nominations at present for city offices to be filled at the ensuing municipal election, therefore,

Resolved, That this convention stand adjourned from this date until the evening of the 27th of November, 1867.

The chairman stated that he had neglected to order the roll of delegates to be called. The list, as published in the Workingmen's Advocate of Tuesday, was then read, and about one third the number answered to their names.

The Convention then, on motion, adjourned.

A gentleman who was sitting outside the railing arose and said that as the Covention had adjourned, he supposed the meeting could consider themselves as a Committee of the Whole. He then moved that any wards or districts which had neglected to elect delegates should do so before the next meeting of the Convention.

The chairman decided that as he was an outsider the motion could not be considered. A delegate, however, restated the motion when it was adopted.

The "Convention" then dispersed.

This Lodge was organized about three months ago, and now numbers over one hundred and twenty-five members. It is accomplishing great good in the community.

The Nicolson Pavement.

The laying of Wood street with Nicholson pavement was commenced yesterday, and during the day large crowds of persons were present inspecting the operations. The workmen from Cleveland, who mange the work, appear to be adepts at the business. In conversation with them yesterday, they informed our reporter that last week they had laid seven hundred and fifty feet on a thirty-eight-foot street in Cleveland, and were satisfied that when they had all their arrangements perfected they would make short work of Wood and Fifth streets. The Street Committee visited the grounds yesterday afternoon, and appeared convinced that the work was progressing satisfactorily. Messrs. Ford, Boggs and Welden, of the Committee, have labored assiduously towards having the Nicolson pavement introduced into the city, and they are entitled to great praise for their efforts. Mr. Greeley, of Chicago, the owner of the patent for this city, arrived yesterday, and will give the work his personal attention.

Mail Robbed.

A Uniontown correspondent sends us the following, under date of yesterday: The Fayette Springs mail bag was found yesterday morning, on the National Pike, about half mile from Uniontown, Pa., cut open and the contents gone. It is supposed that by the negligence of the driver, it was dropped from the "boot" of the coach, as it was on its way to the mountain, and some person coming along picked it up and abstracted the contents. The name of the depredator is unknown. S.

DANGEROUSLY ILL.—Miss Devlin, sister of Rev. Father Devlin, and one of the Sisters of Mercy, took ill some time since at the Convent on Webster street, and was removed to the Mercy Hospital, where she has been lying dangerously ill ever since. At the request of her friends, who reside in Buffalo, New York, permission was granted to have her removed there. She was conveyed in a carriage from the Hospital to the Union Depot early yesterday morning, and left in a special car provided for the purpose, with her sister and brother as attendants, on the six o'clock train for Buffalo.

Public Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE—This establishment was crowded to its utmost capacity last evening, the audience being largely composed of ladies. The performances of the Williamses, as usual, gave great satisfaction, the audience being delighted and enthusiastic. They make their last appearance but one this evening.

THE MAY QUEEN.—Owing to the necessary absence from the city of some of the singers the May Queen cantata will not take place until Thursday evening next, November 14th.

[Before Alderman McMasters.]

ALLEGED OUTRAGEOUS ASSAULT ON A SISTER.

Miss Mary Butterfield appeared yesterday and brought suit against her brother George Butterfield, for assault and battery. Miss Butterfield alleges that on Sunday last, while the family were at church, her brother entered her room and without just cause committed an outrageous assault on her, beating and abusing her badly, and pulling the hair from her head in such quantities that the back part of her head was almost bald. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the unnatural brother.

[Before Alderman Taylor.]

DESTROYED HIS "SHINGLE."

Dr. Geo. W. Betzel, who has an office in the old Catholic High School building, on Penn street, in the Fifth ward, lodged an information yesterday against a man named Angel, for malicious mischief, alleging that the latter maliciously destroyed his sign with a hatchet. A warrant for his arrest was issued.

[Before Alderman Mullin, of Allegheny.]

ALLEGED FALSE PRETENSES.

Antoine Mankle entered suit yesterday against Christ. Koumer, charging him with false pretenses. The parties live in Indiana township. Some time since Koumer bought hogs to the value of fifty-three dollars, at a vendue from Mankle, and give him his note for the amount, which he now refuses to cash. The case has been held for a hearing.

KNOCKED DOWN.

J. B. McGee was charged with committing an assault and battery on J. W. Hoeveler, who alleges that McGee attacked him, striking him violently on the face and eye, thereby knocking him down. The accused has not yet been arrested.

ARRESTED ON A PROCESS.

Moses Nelson, of Temperanceville, was arrested yesterday by officer Blonden, on a process issued by the Court, for costs, and was committed to jail.

Try Dr. Keyser's Pectorial Syrup.

The coughing season has begun and, with it the deep seated coughs and colds which lay the foundation of permanent and often times fatal lung diseases. The true course to persue for any one afflicted with a cold is too seek a remedy in the early stage of these diseases; for the reason that they are much more easily cured in the beginning than after they have seized some vital part of the constitution. The remedy that is most sure to give them relief is DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL COUGH SYRUP, a medicine prepared by him with great care, and with a certain evidence that it will save hundreds of persons from falling into a permanent lung difficulty if applied to in time. LAWRENCEVILLE, November 5, 1867.

Dr. E. S. Aborn, 134 Smithfield St., Pittsburgh:

DEAR DOCTOR: I am now almost well of the terrible attack of Catarrh and Tuberculosis which I had when I applied to you for advice. I have always disliked advertising very much, and yet it was your advertisement that got me for a patient.

So please to count me in as an enthusiastic disciple of the new system, and an admirer of the simple, straightforward means by which we now reach disease of the Lungs and surrounding tissue.

For more than forty-five years I have been used to the Allopathic practice, for twelve years located in Lawrenceville, and favorably received, and honored with business by the citizens. Yours, respectfully, Empire Sewing Machine.

For a long time we contemplated buying a sewing machine, and at different periods the various machines were examined. All of them were well recommended; all found purchasers. Some were complicated in their machinery—some were very noisy and disturbers of the peace; none made the corded stitch. Recently our attention was called to the Empire—it was examined; its machinery is very simple and easily understood. Any young lady would blush to admit that she could not run it after a few trials. It uses the straight needle,—makes the lock stitch, sews lace and bobinet, and all the fabrics in use in a family, up to leather. Its simplicity guarantees its durability. What more can be asked. We have nothing to regret as to our purchase, but on the other hand are well pleased. Messrs. Carson Brothers are the agents, No. 49 St. Clair street, Pittsburgh, who will send their circular to any one dropping them a line. In this circular you will find styles and prices. Shall Nature be Sustained?

To give debilitating medicines to the weak is about as sensible as it would be to try to help a man to his feet by kicking him when he was down.

That sort of practice is going out of fashion. It has filled so many graveyards that people no longer believe in it.

If those who are not strong by nature expect to avoid the attacks of disease, they must endeavor to acquire the vigor necessary to resist it.

How is this to be done? Common sense suggests by the use of invigorating medicine.

The great object is to STRENGTHEN THE SYSTEM WITHOUT EXCITING IT.

This object is accomplished by the judicious use of the most potent and genial of all vegetable tonics and alteratives, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Many valuable properties are combined in this preparation. It improves the appetite and renders digestion easy and perfect.

It gives steadiness to the nerves, induces a healthy, natural flow of bile; prevents constipation without unduly purging the bowels; gently stimulates the circulation, and by promoting a vigorous condition of the physical system, promotes, also, that cheerfulness which is the truest indication of a well-balanced condition of all the animal powers.

Summer leaves both the body and the mind more or less exhausted. Now is the time to recruit them, and thus forestall the malarious fevers and other complaints which prostrate so many thousands every fall.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, November 6th, 1867.

The demand for money to-day was heavy, but the market was too stringent to afford anything like an adequate supply. Balances are much reduced by heavy checking, and discount places are low in funds. The outside market is close, and it is difficult to negotiate paper at even the high rates ruling.

The New York Bulletin thinks that the protracted stringency in the discount market suggests the supposition that there is something in the present conduct of banking affairs which does not work harmoniously with the interests of the mercantile public. Never since the crisis of 1857 have merchants experienced such difficulties in procuring adequate discounts as at present. The recent failures have been brought about by this condition of things, and a large amount of renewals of obligations has been resorted to in order to bridge over the present period of embarrassment.

This is due in a general sense to the fact of the requirements of the West, for moving the grain crops, being unusually large. It may be also that the recent losses of some classes of merchants from the decline in the value of their goods has partially contributed to produce an indisposition to discount paper. But it is a notable fact that through all this derangement borrowers upon stocks have been able to procure money without difficulty; with so little difficulty, indeed, that the prices of stocks have advanced in the face of the stringency.

—The current quotations for Governments to-day in the New York market show a firmer tone and a slight advance in prices. The following are the closing prices as reported to Messrs. Ira B. McVay & Co.:

U. S. 6s 1881	112
5-20s, 1862	108⅞
" 1864	105⅝
" 1865, May and November	106⅛
" 1865, January and July, 1865	107⅝
U. S. 10-40s	100⅝
December Compounds, 1864	119½
June 7-30s	105⅝
July 7-30s	105⅝
Gold	138⅝
U. S. 5-20s, 1867	107⅝

—At noon the report to Messrs. James T. Brady & Co. show lower figures than what the market closed at as given above:

Gold	139
U. S. 6s 1881	112
U. S. 5-20s, 1862	108⅞
U. S. 5-20s, 1864	105⅝
U. S. 5-20s, 1865	106⅛
10-40s	100⅝
U. S. 5-20s, 1865, January and July	107⅝
U. S. 5-20s, January and July, 1867	107⅝
June 7-30s	105⅝
July 7-30s	105⅝
December Compounds, 1864	119½

—The Railway stock list is flat, and it is "nip" and "tug" with the brokers to make any show of business. There are not sufficient fluctuations to impart any life to operations. The following prices were current at noon to-day:

Michigan Southern	77⅝
Cleveland & Pittsburgh	81⅛
Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago	96
Erie	71⅛
Chicago & Northwestern	47⅝

—The money market at Cincinnati, the Gazette says, is characterized by a more importunate demand for loans than usual. Bankers are unable to supply even their own depositors to the extent desired, and outside parties have to be refused. The customary rates of 8@10 per cent. between bankers and their depositors are still current; but money in the open market is worth and brings 12@18 per cent. on good securities. In addition to the local demand for money there is considerable currency being drawn to the country for moving the hog crop, and with the continuance of the present cold weather this will largely increase.

—At Chicago, the Tribune reports that there is a growing disposition on the part of the banks to give an impetus to the grain shipping interest, by curtailing discounts on grain paper and calling in loans made on property stored here. On two or three occasions at the close of last week loans were called in, and it was understood that such was the case this morning. We are glad to find that the banks are beginning to realize the situation. There are in store to-day somewhere in the neighborhood of 1,400,000 bus. wheat, representing fully two and one-half millions of dollars, and it is safe to say that the banks have advanced on it to the extent of nearly two millions. Navigation will close in about two weeks, and unless some vigorous efforts are now made to force it to the sea-board the banks will be obliged to carry it and the accumulations of the winter months, until the opening of navigation. In the meantime the hog crop will have to be moved from the interior to the packing houses in the city, there cured, and afterwards shipped East, and this cannot be done without the assistance of the banks. The longer they continue to carry the stock of wheat now stored here, the less able will they be to meet the wants of the packers, and other legitimate business operations. Some day a loud call will be made for money by parties whom the banks cannot refuse, and in order to get it, they will be compelled to spill a little grain. Such may happen when navigation is closed, and the result must be—a break down in the market. Now is the time for the banks to shut down and force the property to the seaboard. A month hence it may be done, but not with the same ease as at the present.

—The Burlington (Vermont) Sentinel says the following Vermont banks have published the notice required by "An act relating to the redemption of bank notes," approved November 21, 1866. Consequently they will not be liable to redeem their outstanding bills after one year from the time of the first publication of such notice. The time of redemption will expire as follows:

Battenkill, Dec. 13, 1867; Bradford, Dec. 15, 1867; Burlington, Dec. 4, 1867; Caledonia, Dec. 9, 1867; Lyndon, Dec. 15, 1867; Orange County, Dec. 31, 1867; Orleans, Dec. 14, 1867; Poultney, Jan. 1, 1868; Lamoille County, May 11, 1868; Farmers and Mechanics', Nov. 28, 1867; Waterbury, Dec. 30, 1867; Northfield, Dec. 26, 1867; Passumpsic, Dec. 1, 1867; Rutland County, Dec. 4, 1867; Stark, Aug. 1, 1868; Union, Jan. 12, 1868; White River, Dec. 10, 1867; Vermont, Dec. 20, 1867; Vergennes, Jan. 8, 1868; Woodstock, Jan. 22, 1868. The savings' banks have on deposit in this State $1,898,107 58. This is an increase from last year of $217,649 12.

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, THURSDAY, November 7, 1867.

BUSINESS—The market yesterday was feverish. The sales made were large at a material decline in prices. The bottom went clear out. Buyers were very shy; they had but small faith in the market. A number of the leading refineries that had sold for November delivery made their purchases in Philadelphia and filled their contracts in that way. In that way they will realize more money than by forwarding East. The dispatches from the East were not very favorable. Oil City was dull and no buyers. In our own market we note the following sales: Crude—3,000 bbls bulk, November delivery, 9⅛c; sales 4,000 bbls bulk, all year, S. O., 8⅛c; 1,000 bbls, first water, 9c; sales 2,500 bbls, first water, 8⅛c, and 5,000 bbls bulk, all the year, S. O., 8⅛c; total sales 15,500 bbls.

REFINED OIL—The market was dull; sales were made at a pretty low figure. Antwerp dispatches reported sales at 43½ francs, the lowest figure reported for a long time. We note the following sales: 3,000 bbls S W, Philadelphia, B O, December, 27½c; sales 1,000 bbls do November, 28½c; sales 500 bbls do November, 28c; sales 1,000 bbls do December, 28c; sales 1,000 bbls do S W, free on cars at works, 23c; sales 2,000 bbls S W, Philadelphia, deliverable November and December, 28c; also 1,000 bbls, November and December, Philadelphia, 28c.

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, WEDNESDAY EVENING, November 6, 1867.

The general markets continue to drag, and are devoid of animation or excitement in any branch of trade, excepting flour, in which article there was more doing. CHESTNUTS—We quote at $7 50@8 00 ₱ bush.

FLOUR—The market to-day was active, buyers having an idea that prices are not going to be any lower. There has been an advance in New York, and the sales, to-day, were large. Choice winter is quoted at $12 25@12 50; choice spring at $10 75 and medium at $10 50 ₱ bbl. We note sales of 400 bbls Jenkins's Lilly, to-day, at $11 25 ₱ bbl. THE RIVER AND MATTERS ALONG THE WHARF.—Business along the wharf was not very active. The Glendale left early in the day with all the freight she could manage and a number of people. The Grey Eagle did not leave. The water fell too fast. The tow-boat Mary Davage was receiving all day for St. Louis, and will leave with dispatch. The new steamer McCullough was due last night. She is announced for noon this day. The marks on the pier indicate three feet four inches and falling.

THE steamer Ida Stockdale, Captain H. K. Haslett, left St. Louis for New Orleans on Sunday.

THE Cumberland river, at latest accounts, had risen ten inches.

CAPTAIN A. ROBINSON, of Cincinnati, has sold out his boat store to Cullum, Cunningham & Co.

CAPTAIN JOHN ANAWALT arrived at Cincinnati on Monday to load the Wild Duck barges for St. Louis.

A CAIRO dispatch says the Gipsy sunk with two barges of coal just above here, opposite Bird's Island; total loss.

THE steamers Great Republic and R. E. Lee are advertised to leave Cairo for New Orleans on Saturday.

THE steamer Express Captain P. Anshutz, was announced to leave Cincinnati for this port on Wednesday.

THE towboat Viola was due at Cincinnati from Ashland with a tow of forty thousand bushels of coal intended for the Water Works and Gaylord's foundry.

OMAHA, November 4.—The steamer Gallatin, from the mountains, with considerable treasure, arrived this evening. She reports the Imperial in a distressed condition, near Milk river, for want of provisions. She has three hundred passengers aboard, many of whom are coming overland. The Indians scalped and killed one man.

THE new steamer Lotawanna was built at Marietta by Captain H. B. Brinker, for the Ouachita trade. The hull is 157 feet long, 37 feet beam, with 6 feet depth of hold. The machinery comprises three boilers, the cylinders being 18½ inches in diameter, with 6 feet stroke. She has capacity for 600 tons. She has first rate cabin accommodations, her outfit being of the most modern pattern.

VICKSBURG.—The Republican, of the 31st, says: It appears certain that there are at this time more cases of yellow fever in town than any time previous since the epidemic made its appearance. There appears, however, to be a diminution of its fatality, and it yields more rapidly to treatment. We may expect frost any day, and its fine ease will be checked before long. Passed down—Bertina, and Pauline Carroll.

CINCINNATI.—The following are the rates of freight to the different points: To New Orleans—Whisky $3; heavy pound freight 75c; flour $1 25; apples and potatoes $1 25; stoves and hollow ware $1; bacon 75c; pork $2. To St. Louis—Heavy pound freight 30c ₱ 100; furniture, card rates. Lower Ohio rivers freight 60c. To Memphis, 75c. To Fort Smith, Arkansas river, $1 50. To Pomeroy only 25c, which is a heavy decrease.

CAIRO, November 4.—The Alpha brought 500 bbls produce and sundries, 100 boxes glassware, and 20 tons sundries for reshipment South. The Chattanooga brought 175 sacks wheat for Cairo, 400 bbls flour and apples, and 100 pkgs sundries, for below. The E. M. Childs passed out of the Ohio with a good trip for Red river. The Paducah packet brought 540 pkgs tides for Cincinnati, and 30 bags peanuts for St. Louis. River stationary. Weather clear. Mercury 45. The Great Republic commences loading here for New Orleans, on Wednesday, and expects to leave on Saturday.

THE Parkersburg and Gallipolis packet Red Buck sunk a short distance below Hall's wood yard, on the 29th ult., at 5 A. M. No lives lost. She went down in about eight feet of water, and not more than a minute elapsed from the time she struck until all but a small portion of the cabin was submerged. The passengers and crew took refuge on the roof, and were rescued by some of the crew and one passenger, who went ashore on a raft and procured a skiff. The cargo, consisting of flour, salt and groceries, was but little injured, as it was taken from the wreck a short time after she went down.

MEMPHIS, November 4.—Heavy rain yesterday; cool and cloudy to-day; river falling, four and a half feet at Point Pleasant; Arkansas river falling, twenty-four inches; White river falling and low. Passed down—Belle Memphis, Lizzie Gill, H. M. Shreve. Passed up—Tracy, Belle Memphis, G. A. Thompson. There was a heavy storm along the river last night, and boats were obliged to lay up. No damage is reported. Business continues terribly dull. Cotton terribly dull at 17c. Provisions declining, in view of resumption of navigation. Fugitives from yellow fever returning fast.

NEW ORLEANS.—The Times, of the 1st, says: We wish we could say as much about business as we can about the weather, but we can't, for one is all we could desire of our friend, the clerk of the weather, but business is dull, aye, very dull, at the present writing. There were no arrivals yesterday evening when we left the levee. No departures yesterday. Yesterday morning the flags of the steamboats lying at our wharf were displayed at half-mast, as a token of respect to Capt. William Daniey, late Master of the George D. Palmer, who died of the prevailing epidemic on October 30, at quarter past seven o'clock P. M. Capt Daniey was about forty-five years of age at the time of his death.

THE Chattanooga American Union, of Friday, says:

As yet no boats have arrived, but they are hourly expected. The Resacca will make one trip up, and upon her return will change her boilers, substituting larger ones, as the present ones are too small to furnish the amount of power wanted. This change will make her the Queen of the Waters.

We notice our friend J. B. Allison, busily engaged in building a fine trading boat for the Alabama waters. Mr. A. is an old boatman on these waters, and has shown great taste in building this fine vessel. She is sixty-four feet long by sixteen wide, with additional rooms. She will leave next week.

EVANSVILLE, IND., November 4—The weather yesterday was cloudy and wet, with a considerable storm prostrating the telegraph wires. It rained nearly all Sunday. To-day it is clear and cold. The river has been stationary since Saturday. The only arrivals since Saturday evening were the Fanny Brandeis and Louisa, from Cairo. The Brandeis left for Cairo. The Ollie Sullivan left for Cairo yesterday, with 25 tons of fruit trees, and considerable other freight. There is but two feet on Cumberland Bar, the shoalest to Cairo, and three feet on all others. The Michigan left for Memphis late Saturday night. Captain Dan. Stark, from Gaff's Landing, sometimes called Aurora, anchored in front of the city Saturday night, with three flat-boats, on account of wind. He is now getting up steam to leave; the wind having lulled.

TUESDAY'S Cincinnati Commercial says. The river was on a stand last night, having risen nine inches during the past twenty-four hours, with five feet eight inches in the channel, by the Water-works mark. It will doubtless be found receding this morning. There is seven feet hence to Louisville. Last night there was only two feet on Cumberland bar, but the present rise will make four feet out of the Lower Ohio. If there be no rise out of the Wabash and Cumberland, it will be hard to find over four feet on the shoalest bars along the Lower Ohio. A rise of ten inches is reported in the Cumberland at Nashville, and our advices from the Wabash report that river rising slowly.

The Argosy arrived from Big Sandy with 250 tons pig iron, 700 kegs nails, and 100 bbls. whisky. She has withdrawn from the Big Sandy trade, and leaves for Pittsburgh this evening, in charge of her old commander, Captain Lew Vandegrift.

LOUISVILLE IS HAPPY—JUST HOLD ON TO IT.—Monday, November 4th.—In the boat race from Jeffersonville to-day, Ed. Wilder, the Louisville boat, beat H. J. Reamer, of New Albany. Distance, two miles; made by the former in 16 minutes 3 seconds; the latter in 16 minutes 34 seconds.

The Board of Trade adopted the form of a Bill of Lading, and appointed a committee to request Senator Guthrie to present their memorial to Congress, and urge a modification of the cotton tax.

The river has risen six inches since the rain of yesterday. Business brisk. Weather clear and cool. The Argonaut leaves on Thursday, and the Indiana on Saturday, for New Orleans. The Neville left for Pittsburgh. The Empire Thursday, and the J. P. Webb on Wednesday, leave for Memphis. The Peerless departs for the Arkansas River on Wednesday. The Pink Varble goes up Tennessee River on Saturday.

MEMPHIS, November 2.—Cool and cloudy. River declining steadily, with five feet to Point Pleasant. White river receding, with three feet six inches to Augusta. Arkansas remains low, with twenty-six inches to Pine Bluff. The Commercial came in with a large list of passengers and 480 bales of cotton. The Marble City cleared for St. Louis with 300 bales of cotton. The Coosa, Captain Kinney, is announced to leave to-day for New Orleans. Captain John Elliott, of the Des Arc, refused to give bonds to carry out his mail contract between Memphis and Vicksburg. He has thrown up his contract altogether, and the Post Office Department here has received orders from Washington to get responsible parties to put in new bids for the contract.

Captain John B. Davis leaves on Monday for Cincinnati, for the purpose of purchasing a new side-wheel steamer to replace the Rowena. The tow-boat Shark, from New Orleans, passed up yesterday for St. Louis. Part of her crew have been down sick; two deck hands died on board between Vicksburg and this point. The Ida Rees, from White River, passed up for Louisville last evening.

The Salvor has been engaged for the past fortnight between here and Vicksburg, fishing out old machinery. She passed up yesterday with the boilers and machinery of the Niagara, City of Memphis and other steamers that have gone to the bottom in the past two years. One of the Shark's barges flanked into the bank at Horn Lake, causing it to spring a knuckle, which made her leak badly. The water rose to fifteen inches in the hold. The Shark was unable to pump the water out with her syphon pumps, and gave the wrecking-boat Salvor, which was coming up the river, $1,500 to pump the barge out. The Shark sunk one of her barges going down, at the same place the accident occurred coming up.
